Demo Accuses Ike Of 'Gross Misstatement Of Record' On Social Security

By WARREN ROGERS JR.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson Wednesday night accused President Eisenhower of a "gross misstatement of the record" in saying the Republicans should be credited for enlarging the Social Security program.

The Democratic presidential nominee said Eisenhower made the statement in a campaign speech Monday at Cleveland. "I am sure he is an honorable man," Stevenson added, "and could hardly have deliberately intended the misrepresentations which his speech included."

CROWDS' RESPONSE BETTER

... In Pennsylvania

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Adlai Stevenson's crowds along his 100-mile whistle-stopping train ride across Pennsylvania Wednesday appeared bigger and more responsive than those in New Jersey the day before, and the stakes were higher—32 electoral votes as against 16.

Stevenson's Wednesday night broadcast from Pittsburgh was a follow-up to the jabbing he had done all day at Eisenhower.

At Wilkes-Barre, where the crowd in the public square was estimated at 5,000, Stevenson hit at Republican claims of prosperity under Eisenhower.

Not Enough Jobs Stevenson recited the story of a bill designed to provide federal aid to communities with not enough jobs to go around. He said it was passed in the Senate but was killed by the House Republican leadership.

At a news conference later Eisenhower was asked why, Stevenson said, and the President replied: "You are telling me something now that I didn't know. As a matter of fact, it is one piece of legislation I was disappointed was not passed, and I don't know the reason lying behind it."

Stevenson commented at that point.

"Speaking the other night, the President called me 'confused.' Is it any wonder we ask, 'Who's in charge here?'"

Disturbance At Scranton, where he started out before an early morning crowd of perhaps 3,000, he had occasion to quell a minor disturbance. An Eisenhower placard suddenly appeared, only to be quickly surrounded by Democratic signs. It got partly torn.

"Let's call off the battle, boys," Stevenson urged good naturedly. "That's not till November."

At Pittsford and Exeter, en route to Wilkes-Barre, school children turned out to wave at his motorcade. The Stevenson train was sent on ahead.

At Exeter there was an unlikely sight: schoolboys coming out in favor of school. They shouted, "We want more schools," and carried signs reading, "We need more school-rooms."

One of Stevenson's main points in his attack on what he calls Eisenhower's "failure of leadership" is that the federal government must help local officials build more schools and train more teachers and students.

IKKE PROVES HIMSELF JOYFUL DODGER FAN

Eisenhower stayed until the final out of the Brooklyn 6-3 triumph.

'Intent To Kill' Charge Admitted

... Vigil Bound Over

Roger Vigil, 29, of 2649 No. 48th was bound over to Lancaster District Court after pleading guilty to a charge of shooting Mrs. Lillian M. Suckstorf with intent to kill, wound or maim.

Mrs. Suckstorf, 39, of the same address, was reported in fair condition and off the critical list Wednesday when Vigil was arraigned in County Court.

Judge Herbert Ronin fixed Vigil's appearance bond at $10,000 pending District Court proceedings in the case. Vigil did not post bond and was taken to the Penitentiary for safekeeping.

Has 'No Money.' During his arraignment, Vigil said he "had no money" for his defense, but after a court discussion of his rights, he acknowledged he was pleading guilty because "I did it."

The shooting to kill charge carries a penalty of from one to 20 years imprisonment.

Vigil has given authorities a seven-page statement relating he shot Mrs. Suckstorf shortly after Monday noon at the Tick Tock Bar at 1038 P.

Mrs. Suckstorf, divorced mother of four children, was shot at close range with a .22-caliber pistol, and wounded five times—three in the chest, and in the arm and head.

Vigil, who was attending a hair-styling school when he met Mrs. Suckstorf in January, formerly lived at Kimball, Neb., before coming to Lincoln.

Davis To Resign Interior Position

Says 'Can't Afford To Stay On'; Plans Practice Here, Washington

Under Secretary of the Interior Clarence A. Davis told The Lincoln Star Wednesday night that he "simply can't afford to serve another term in the Department of the Interior."

An Associated Press report from Washington earlier Wednesday quoted Davis as saying he would resign his post about the first of next year to re-enter private law practice in Washington and Lincoln.

In an interview from Washington with The Lincoln Star Davis said he had "no idea whether President Eisenhower would ask me to serve another term, but I simply cannot do it even if he does."

Davis said his plans are "very indefinite. I have set no date for my resignation, and have no specific plans."

Asked if he intended to re-associate himself with the Lincoln law firm which still bears his name (Davis, Healey, Davies and Wilson Davis said, "I have no idea."

Explaining that he had severed all connections with the firm when he went to Washington, Davis commented, "The American Bar Association permits law firms to continue using the name of persons once associated with them if they so desire."

He said he "definitely had no particular Washington law firm in mind."

More Time Here Asked if he expected to specialize in any particular field of law, Davis replied, "No. I never have."

He said he expected to spend a great deal more time in Lincoln "ultimately" and added that while he and Mrs. Davis had sold their home in Lincoln (at 3144 Sheridan) "we still have all of our furniture and belongings there and are ready to set up again at any time."

The under secretary came into the Eisenhower administration in 1953 as solicitor of the Interior Department. He was promoted to under secretary Sept. 1, 1954.

Davis was widely mentioned for the post of secretary after Douglas McKay resigned to run for the Senate in Oregon but President Eisenhower chose Fred Seaton, another Nebraskan, for the job.

Seaton requested Davis to stay on and he announced then he would.

Speculation However, there has been widespread speculation that Davis would leave after the election, and Wednesday he said he does plan to step out about the first of the year.

Meanwhile, Hatfield Chilson, attorney for the Colorado State Water Conservation board, was reported to be in line for appointment as an Assistant Secretary of the Interior.

The appointment would be made by President Eisenhower, subject to Senate confirmation.

Chilson would fill the vacancy left by the departure of Wesley A. D'Ewart of Montana after the Senate failed to act on his nomination this year.

Seaton 'Regrets' Contacted at Richland, Wash., where he was slated to speak Wednesday night, Secretary of the Interior Fred A. Seaton told The Lincoln Star he "regrets very much that he (Davis) feels the necessity to return to private practice."

Seaton said he had known that Davis didn't intend to stay in the department and stated, "It's a matter of record that I personally asked him to stay as undersecretary when I was appointed secretary of the interior."

Seaton said Davis is "a very capable and faithful public servant and he certainly has my good wishes as he re-enters private practice."

Nebraska Governor Victor Anderson called Davis "a fine public servant who has given real service in the Department of the Interior. I hate to see him leave government service but we'll be happy to have him back in Nebraska."

Ambulances To Be Classed As Emergency Vehicles Here

By BILL DOBLER Star Staff Writer

Ambulance service operators and city officials came to an agreement in a closed meeting to classify ambulances as emergency vehicles under city ordinance.

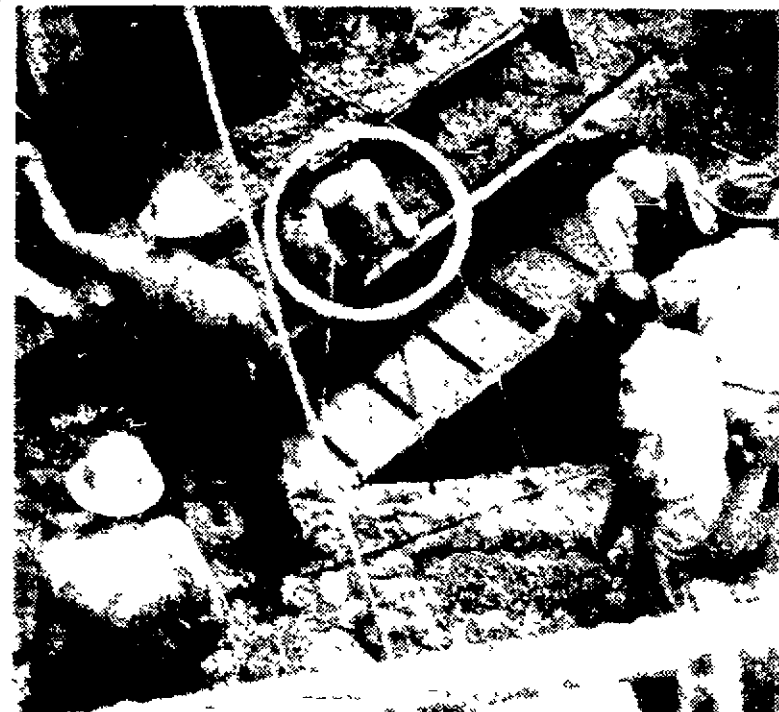

The group's agreement will go before the City Council Monday in the form of a recommended amendment to existing law.

According to City Attorney Jack Pace, ambulances will be able to violate any city traffic laws so long as what they do can be done in safety. This includes, he said, running of red traffic lights and stop signs and violation of speed limits.

Reasonable Speed The amendment to the ordinance will stipulate that running of red lights or stop signs be done only at reasonable speeds.

The meeting was held behind closed doors in the office of Welfare and Safety Director Emmett Jung. City officials present besides Jung and Pace were Councilmen Ray Osborn and Pat Jash.

Speaking for the ambulance operators, Max Roper reported the agreement reached was "exactly what we have wanted for years."

Adlai's H-Test Halt 'Nonsense'—Nixon

V.P. Accuses Demo Of Claims 'Damaging To U.S. Abroad'

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Vice President Nixon blasted as "catastrophic nonsense" Wednesday Adlai Stevenson's suggestion that hydrogen bomb tests be abandoned.

"This is one of the most extraordinary, appalling statements in the history of American political campaigning," Nixon said in a speech prepared for delivery here Wednesday night.

The reference was to Stevenson's speech Tuesday at Teaneck, N.J., in which the Democratic presidential nominee challenged President Eisenhower to take the lead in a move to ban H-bomb tests and suggested that Russia is willing to go along.

Nixon's address here, the last on a 32-state campaign swing that started 16 days ago, was billed in advance as a major foreign policy statement and a reply to the Stevenson speech.

The vice president accused Stevenson of making statements that are "terribly damaging to America's interests abroad" and of providing "grist for the propaganda mills of those who favor Communism."

"Where he disagrees with a policy," Nixon said, "Mr. Stevenson has a right and an obligation to criticize it and then to point out what he would do. But when he resorts to shotgun attacks on the policies of a President who is a symbol of peace throughout the world, he hurts America abroad and he does not help himself at home."

Major Defenses "Mr. Stevenson's memory is as short as his sense of understanding on this extremely grave issue of our survival in a world menaced by Communist imperialism. Supremacy in nuclear weapons and the more conventional military weapons, including trained manpower, are our major defenses against the powerful Soviet military threat."

Nixon spoke in the antiquated four-decked Academy of Music which was packed to its 3,500 capacity. Loud speakers carried his voice to an overflow crowd outside estimated at 25,000 by Howard Leary, deputy police commissioner.

A group of demonstrators in front of the hall, who said they represented the Philadelphia local of the International Seafarers Union, carried anti-Nixon placards. A slight scuffle broke out between some of the demonstrators and an academy usher and a few unidentified men but it was quickly ended.

Nixon deviated from his prepared address to take a slap at former President Truman after calling Stevenson's statement on the H-bomb "extraordinary" and "appalling."

"With Harry Truman still on the loose," he said, "that's saying something, believe me."

He did not amplify the remark. Because Stevenson's proposal "lacks the essential ingredient of inspection," Nixon added, it rates the description of "catastrophic nonsense."

10 Killed In Road Collision

MUNCIE, Ind. (AP) — Ten persons were killed Wednesday night in the collision of two automobiles six miles west of Muncie on Indiana Route 67.

Nine of the dead were believed to be Muncie residents. The tenth victim was a man who was alone in the second car.

The drivers were identified by drivers licenses as Thomas B. Burrows, 36, Keystone, Ind., and Fred D. Beal, 32, Muncie. A man riding with Beal was identified as Jesse W. Price, 37.

Also riding in the Beal car were three women and four girls, 10 to 12 years old. All were dead in the wreckage except one woman who died a short time later in a Muncie hospital.

The ambulance services, Jung said, will continue to operate as they have in the past until the proposed amendment and emergency classification is considered by the Council.

The issue was raised last week when Jung, at the Council's direction, advised the services that they would be given traffic tickets when their ambulances were involved in accidents in which they were at fault.

This led the operators to suspend emergency ambulance service. Such service, however, was restored the following day at Jung's direction until the matter could be given further study.

The Council's original directive to Jung followed a weekend accident involving an ambulance and a car at 27th and South.

Fear 4 Others Buried

Bulldozers Punch Through Debris; 15 Injured

By JERRY GREEN JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — Six workmen were dead and four others feared lost Wednesday night in the rubble of a partly constructed four story office building. It collapsed Wednesday, burying some 25 construction workers beneath tons of steel and concrete.

Late Wednesday night loudspeakers at the scene intoned the Lord's Prayer and ten minutes of silence followed while rescuers entered the partly excavated basement to call for survivors. There were no answers.

Then bulldozers and cranes began chewing at the remains of a building that had been designed to withstand the shock of an atomic blast.

Fifteen workmen were injured, two of them critically. They were taken to two Jackson hospitals.

The insides of the building gave way without warning as a construction gang from the Herlihy Mid-Continent Co. of Chicago was pouring concrete on the fourth floor of the $2,800,000 structure. The building, its shell nearly completed, was to be the general offices for the Consumers Power Co.

Near Improbable Company officials said it was designed to be as nearly impregnable against atomic explosions as possible.

Consumers, a utility company which supplies gas and electricity to much of southern Michigan outside Detroit, has its headquarters in Jackson, about 65 miles south-east of Detroit.

The fourth floor buckled and collapsed sending masses of concrete and steel girders crashing through the lower floors to the basement. Workers, caught with little or no warning, fell with the debris or were trapped on the ground floor and the basement.

Civil Defense Rescue teams sped to the scene soon after word of the tragedy reached Jackson, four miles south of the rural construction site. Doctors crawled into the wreckage to administer first aid to injured workmen.

Too Close State police and National Guardsmen also were dispatched to keep hundreds of spectators from crowding too close to the wrecked building.

"It mushroomed in the middle, then slid down to the basement," said one workman who escaped. "It sounded like a big bomb exploding," recounted J. H. Crowe, a carpenter who had walked out of the first floor just before the collapse.

The collapsed section of the L-shaped building measured 200 by 400 feet. It was the short leg of the "L."

Workmen who survived said they regarded their safety "as a miracle."

"There was no warning at all," Crowe declared. "They had no chance."

The tons of debris carried workmen from the third floor down and fell on electricians working in the basement.

More than two hours after the building collapsed, reporters at the scene could hear trapped men moaning from the ruins.

Frank Herlihy, president of the company putting up the building, was 500 feet from the scene when the structure crumpled.

He had just flown in from Chicago on a routine inspection tour. "It went down with an awful roar," he said.

No Idea Herlihy said he had no idea what had caused the accident. "We won't know until we get a chance to inspect the building," he said.

Herlihy said that some 100 men were employed on the project but that only about 40 were in gangs at the scene Wednesday. The company was not sure just how many men might have been in the structure at the time of the accident.

The known dead were Ray Clancherty, Jackson, Curley May, Sir., and William Bingham, St. Joseph, Mich., a cement finisher.

Demo Accuses Ike Of 'Gross Misstatement Of Record' On Social Security

By WARREN ROGERS JR.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson Wednesday night accused President Eisenhower of a "gross misstatement of the record" in saying the Republicans should be credited for enlarging the Social Security program.

The Democratic presidential nominee said Eisenhower made the statement in a campaign speech Monday at Cleveland. "I am sure he is an honorable man," Stevenson added, "and could hardly have deliberately intended the misrepresentations which his speech included."

Stevenson said the President had "claimed credit" for the Republicans for enlarging the Social Security program, and added:

"I think it is too bad that the President indulged himself in such a gross misstatement of the record. . . . Fortunately, the facts to set the record straight are on hand."

Stevenson said the "fact is" that the Social Security program "was developed by Democrats against bitter Republican opposition."

Stevenson departed from his prepared text to respond to Eisenhower's comment that some Democrats seem "confused" and are talking "wicked nonsense."

Nothing to Add
"As to who is being confused, I have nothing to add to what I have said here. As for 'wicked nonsense'."

"Well, we all expect, in politics, to be accused—without regard to the fairness of the charges—of talking nonsense. We don't expect to be charged with wickedness."

"I think it's too bad that any criticism of the administration, any disagreement with its policies—or lack of policies—is dismissed as some form of moral delinquency or wickedness."

"Criticism and self-examination are the safeguards of democracy. They are indispensable to the two-party system. If responsible and reasoned they are not wicked—they are healthy."

Stevenson's latest criticism of Eisenhower came in a nationally televised broadcast. Stevenson had hastily prepared the broadcast in what his aides said was a "long-range debate" with the President.

He said he was happy to accept Eisenhower's challenge of Monday night that the election will hinge on the question of which party had done more in recent years to help all the people meet their everyday problems.

"If the record is to be the test," Stevenson said, "let's get the record straight."

Stevenson, taking issue with other Eisenhower statements, said the President included in his listing of "Republican Progress" that the "minimum wage was increased."

"The fact is that he (Eisenhower) himself, as well as his congressional leaders, ardently opposed the successful Democrat effort to raise the minimum wage to $1," Stevenson said, adding:

"The President even took credit in his speech for seeking a program to help distressed areas suffering from chronic local unemployment."

Strong Opposition
"The fact is that the only adequate bill to help these areas was introduced in Congress by Democrats, passed by the Senate over strong Republican opposition, and was killed in the House by the President's own leaders."

He said Eisenhower tried to claim his administration "was the first to take up a cause of the needy farmer."

"President Eisenhower may have forgotten this—but the farmers who worked their way from tenancy to ownership . . . with the Farm Security Administration . . . and other Democratic programs have not forgotten."

"The President gave the Republican administration credit for a $12 average increase in wages since August, 1952," Stevenson went on. "The fact is that a third of that increase took place in the first five months of this period—under the Truman administration."

Under Secretary of the Interior Clarence A. Davis told The Lincoln Star Wednesday night that he "simply can't afford to serve another term in the Department of the Interior."

An Associated Press report from Washington earlier Wednesday quoted Davis as saying he would resign his post about the first of next year to re-enter private law practice in Washington and Lincoln.

Seaton 'Regrets'

Contacted at Richland, Wash., where he was slated to speak Wednesday night, Secretary of the Interior Fred A. Seaton told The Lincoln Star he "regrets very much that he (Davis) feels the necessity to return to private practice."

Seaton said he had known that Davis didn't intend to stay in the department and stated, "It's a matter of record that I personally asked him to stay as undersecretary when I was appointed secretary of the interior."

C. Petrus Peterson of Lincoln, president of the National Reclamation Association, said, "We all anticipated he probably would not continue indefinitely in the interior department, but he's done a nice piece of work."

O'Malley Greeting
Eisenhower, wearing a brown suit and tie and white shirt, and smiling broadly, stepped from the automobile on to home plate and was greeted by Walter F. O'Malley, president of the Dodgers.

O'Malley introduced him to Walter Alston, the Brooklyn manager, and Casey Stengel, Yankee manager. Then players of both teams lined up to shake hands with the President.

After the entire Dodger squad passed by, Eisenhower started toward his box seat near the Dodger dugout, apparently believing he had met all the players. But Stengel grasped his arm to point out he still hadn't met the Yankees.

"Casey is going to run the show," commented one Dodger fan as the Yankees shook hands with the President.

Eisenhower, after taking his place in the box, threw out the first ball. A right-hander, he fired accurately over the heads of photographers to Dodger catcher Roy Campanella, standing about 20 feet away.

O'Malley sat to Eisenhower's left and to his right sat his son, Maj. John Eisenhower, and Secretary of State Dulles.

Eisenhower's campaign rival Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, is scheduled to attend the third game of the series Friday at Yankee Stadium.

Company officials said it was designed to be as nearly impregnable against atomic explosions as possible.

Consumers, a utility company which supplies gas and electricity to much of southern Michigan outside Detroit, has its headquarters in Jackson, about 65 miles southeast of Detroit.

The fourth floor buckled and collapsed sending masses of concrete and steel girders crashing through the lower floors to the basement. Workers, caught with little or no warning, fell with the debris or were trapped on the ground floor and the basement.

Civil Defense Rescue teams sped to the scene soon after word of the tragedy reached Jackson, four miles south of the rural construction site. Doctors crawled into the wreckage to administer first aid to injured workmen.

Too Close
State police and National Guardsmen also were dispatched to keep hundreds of spectators from crowding too close to the wrecked building.

"It mushroomed in the middle, then slid down to the basement," said one workman who escaped.

"It sounded like a big bomb exploding," recounted J. H. Crowe, a carpenter who had walked out of the first floor just before the collapse.

The collapsed section of the L-shaped building measured 200 by 400 feet. It was the short leg of the "L."

Workmen who survived said they regarded their safety "as a miracle."

"There was no warning at all," Crowe declared. "They had no chance."

The tons of debris carried workmen from the third floor down and fell on electricians working in the basement.

More than two hours after the building collapsed reporters at the scene could hear trapped men moaning from the ruins.

Frank Herlihy, president of the company putting up the building, was 500 feet from the scene when the structure crumbled.

He had just flown in from Chicago on a routine inspection tour. "It went down with an awful roar," he said.

No Idea
Herlihy said he had no idea what had caused the accident "and we won't know until we get a chance to inspect the building."

The known dead were Ray Claucherty, Jackson, Curley Eley, Sir., and William Bingham, St. Joseph, Mich., a cement finisher.

Class At NWU Studies Politics

A class in practical politics resulted in just that for Nebraska Wesleyan students who wanted to learn of party organization and work.

About 20 of the students in addition to several volunteers were assigned to A. Clifford Anderson, chairman of county Democrats, for some basic precinct work.

Anderson, an old pro in county and state Democratic circles, took the students in hand and reasigned them to precincts throughout the city and county.

The class, under Dr. E. Glenn Callen at NWU, started with pinning buttons on each other supporting Stevenson and Kefauver for the presidency and vice president post.

Registration and ticket sales came next and a workshop program was begun.

The class is named "The American Party System."

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Heavy steel forms at a parking garage under construction gave way under the weight of about 90 tons of wet concrete Wednesday, injuring 13 workmen.

No one was believed critically hurt.

The men were plunged from the open-air second floor 20 feet to the concrete ground floor along with a mass of concrete, steel wire meshing and V-shaped forms.

The garage is an annex to the 14-story, 5½ million-dollar First National Bank Building, opened Monday.

Sportsman Appeals

LOS ANGELES (INS)—Wealthy sportsman Philip Leverett Saltonstall, a cousin of Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass.), declared at a custody hearing that he wants his 9-year-old daughter reared in the United States, not in Mexico.

In demanding full custody of the youngster, Lee Bliss Saltonstall, the sportsman argued through his attorney, Henry B. Ely, that the child had spent more than six years of her life in Mexico with her mother, Mrs. Maxine Saltonstall, 36.

Flames Level Picturesque Hotel

Maine lost a century-old landmark in a spectacular night-time blaze when flames that started in a first floor bedroom leveled the picturesque Belmore Hotel, a 10-story frame structure which had closed for the season just two weeks ago.

James Acme, son of Augusta, who owned the hotel in Belgrade, said a $200,000 loss estimate would be "conservative." (AP Wirephoto)

Bodies Recovered

KANAB, Utah (INS)—The bodies of 26-year-old Moss Deleach and 34-year-old Garn Hamblin were recovered from the wreckage of their light plane 30 miles northeast of Kanab.

Dr. G. R. Allen, who accompanied a search party to the crash site, said the plane was believed to have stalled while flying in a canyon, plunging head-on into a ledge of the canyon wall.

Fired Dixie Health Officer Tags Board 'Cowards' In Case

MADISON, Wis. (INS)—Dr. Deborah Coggins, director of health officer who is being fired for eating lunch with a Negro nurse Wednesday, labeled the Madison County Commission "cowards" and stormed out of a hearing on her case.

The attractive blonde mother of three children had asked the Madison commission to act on her dismissal in her presence. Two other counties—Jefferson and Taylor—already have voted formally to fire the doctor, but Madison has yet to make a formal move.

"You're all fools, fools," she declared, adding "I'm going to be in Madison for a long time and you're going to have to look at me for a long time."

Will Remain
The health officer has turned down job offers from Pennsylvania and California, stating she will remain in private practice in Madison.

Dr. Coggins' husband also is a physician in the North Florida town.

"Why are you such cowards?" she asked silent commission members. "You must be afraid you're not doing the right thing." She then stormed out of the hearing room.

The commission later voted to stand by the minutes of a previous meeting at which it decided to ask the State Board of Health to relieve Dr. Coggins of her duties as tri-county health officer.

MUD Gas Rate Cut May Come Before Winter

OMAHA (AP)—Consumer gas rates of the Metropolitan Utilities District may be reduced before the winter heating season is in full swing, Ralph Trester, general manager, indicated Wednesday.

Trester told the MUD Board that his rate study should be completed by Oct. 24, the date of a special board meeting. He added that the rate cuts should be substantial.

The study was prompted by the settlement of gas rates with Northern Natural Gas Co. supplier to MUD. An increase by Northern went into effect in December 1954, but after the Federal Power Commission reduced by almost half Northern's rate hike the increase to MUD consumers stayed in effect.

Leo J. Dworak said the new rate structure should be geared to give the smaller customers a break. He noted that in the past, increases have been borne most heavily by the home owner.

Oldest Man Takes A Parting Kick At American Photogs

NEW YORK (AP)—Javier Pereira, the little Indian who may be the world's oldest man, departed Wednesday for his native Colombia. As he left, he took a parting kick at news photographers, his pet peeve.

Pereira was brought here two weeks ago to try to determine if he's 167 years old as some people claim. New York Hospital experts on old age examined him and said there was no exact way to fix his age. But they said he might be over 150.

Last week at a news conference the 4-foot 4 Pereira who weighs 82 pounds got irked at photographers and their flash bulbs. He slugged a reporter.

Wednesday at Idlewild Airport, the flash bulbs again irritated him. He growled and rushed at the photographers kicking at them until they gave ground.

Later, he calmed down and accepted a calendar with a galaxy of pinup girls on it. Shouting in glee Pereira singled out one of the pictures and cried:

"She's good."

3 Die As AF Globemaster Crashes In South Carolina

... Seven Crew Members Survive

CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP)—Three airmen perished in the flaming wreckage of a C124 Globemaster that crashed Wednesday while attempting an instrument landing at the Charleston Air Force Base. Seven crew members survived.

The huge transport plane, inbound from Bermuda, made two instrument approaches in an early morning fog. The pilot radioed that he had lost one, then two, of his engines.

The Globemaster apparently hit a tree before it smashed to earth near the base administration building and tipped over on its left wing. Flames quickly consumed all but the tail fin. Fire trucks were standing by and battled the blaze for about 30 minutes.

Visibility at the time was about half a mile, with cloud average at 15,000 feet.

The plane was attached to the 1703rd Air Transport Wing at Brookley Air Force Base, Mobile, Ala.

None of the seven airmen taken to the U. S. Naval Hospital here was believed critically injured.

The pilot was Lt. Col. Charles W. Kelso, 41, of Mobile, Ala., one of those hospitalized. He is a native of Vinton, Ia.

Other crew members were not identified pending notification of kin.

Johnson Claims Demos Will Win, GOP Has Jitters

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) said Wednesday that next month the voters will elect "a Democratic Congress and a Democratic president too."

And naturally, he added, the Republicans "have the campaign jitters."

The Senate Democratic leader told newsmen that recent campaign speeches by President Eisenhower "sound like someone handed one of vice president Nixon's speeches to the President by mistake."

"He's on the high road, the low road and he's hitting all roads," the Texas said of the recent Eisenhower campaign efforts.

Johnson noted that Ike traveled to the opening World Series baseball game in Brooklyn and then added:

"I can remember when he wouldn't even go to the opening baseball game here in Washington."

Johnson, in an expansive mood after a month's rest on his Texas ranch, aimed other criticisms at Eisenhower, but said "I'm not too critical because I like Ike too."

He said that the recent Democratic controlled 84th Congress had given Eisenhower better support than was ever received by any other president from an opposition party.

"He told me so himself when he called me to try to get the executive pay raise bill and foreign aid bill through," Johnson said with a laugh.

Oldest Man Takes A Parting Kick At American Photogs

NEW YORK (AP)—Javier Pereira, the little Indian who may be the world's oldest man, departed Wednesday for his native Colombia. As he left, he took a parting kick at news photographers, his pet peeve.

Pereira was brought here two weeks ago to try to determine if he's 167 years old, as some people claim. New York Hospital experts on old age examined him and said there was no exact way to fix his age. But they said he might be over 150.

Last week at a news conference, the 4 foot 4 Pereira, who weighs 82 pounds, got irked at photographers and their flash bulbs. He slugged a reporter.

Wednesday, at Idlewild Airport, the flash bulbs again irritated him. He growled and rushed at the photographers, kicking at them until they gave ground.

Later, he calmed down and accepted a calendar with a galaxy of pinup girls on it. Shouting in glee, Pereira singled out one of the pictures and cried:

"She's good."

Nevada Divorce

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Screen star Elizabeth Taylor and actor Michael Wilding announced that the actress will establish residence for a Nevada divorce early in November.

The announcement issued by the studio in behalf of the couple stated that only a prior picture commitment prevented Miss Taylor from securing an earlier divorce.

The actress and the British film star separated two and a half months ago after a marriage of four years. They have two children, Michael Howard, 3, and Christopher, 1.

Demos Dispute Nixon's U.S. Wage Boost Claim In New 'Lie Detector Bulletin'

WASHINGTON (U) — The Democratic National Committee Wednesday night again took issue with the Republicans in the second of its "Lie Detector Bulletins." The bulletin was announced as the Democratic answer to the GOP "Truth Squads."

The Democrats disputed a statement attributed to Vice President Nixon in a Spokane, Wash., speech Sept. 21 that "66 million Americans wage earners . . . have seen their wages increased by $50 a month since President Eisenhower took office."

The bulletin, without citing the source of its reply, said "the facts are that, since Eisenhower took office in 1953, there have been three monthly wage increases: $19 to 9 million farm workers, $34 to 17 million factory workers, $31 to 11 million wholesale and retail workers, and $23 to 1,400,000 department store employees."

The bulletin quoted a comic book issued by the Republican National Committee as saying "like and his administration halted inflation," and said in reply:

"The cost of living has reached an all-time peak under President Eisenhower, has risen two per cent in the last year."

Secretary of Agriculture Benson was quoted as saying on a television program Sept. 26 that "farm income is now running at a level of nine per cent ahead of a year ago."

To that the bulletin said, "the latest official statistics available for the second quarter of 1956, during which 'farmers' realized net income" is running 200 million dollars below the same quarter last year, and "total net farm income, including inventory adjustment," is running 900 million dollars below the same quarter last year."

"Right Track"

The Democratic publication also challenged a statement attributed to the GOP comic book saying "like is on the right track when he attacks the surplus problem he inherited."

The Democrats said the total value of government surpluses when Eisenhower took office was $1,052,000,000, compared with $5,800,000,000 in August, 1956, an increase of "nearly 600 per cent since he took office."

Six Named From State For High FFA Awards

... Nominated For American Farmer

Six Future Farmers of America members from Nebraska will be recommended to receive the organization's highest degree, that of American Farmer, at the 29th annual FFA convention in Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 15 to 18.

Harold F. Duis, state director of Agricultural Education, said he has received word that the Board of Student Officers and the Board of Directors of the national organization will recommend the six boys.

Approval by the boards usually is tantamount to election by the delegates.

The Nebraskans named are Gene M. Atwood, 20, of the Albion FFA chapter; Ronald E. Damkroger, member of Beatrice Pioneer chapter; Charles F. Lewis, 20, member of Harrison chapter; Rodney A. Sindt, 19, of the Franklin chapter; Gordon Soneson, 29, of the Holdrege Sod-Buster chapter, and Laurence Ulmer, 19, member of the Sutton chapter.

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Atwood of Albion, Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Damkroger of De Witt, Mr. and Mrs. Tom C. Lewis of Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sindt of Naponee, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Soneson of Holdrege and Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Ulmer of Grafton.

Nationally the FFA Board of Directors voted to recommend 265 Future Farmers to receive the American Farmer degree. Each winner will receive a certificate and gold key from the FFA organization and a $100 check from the Future Farmers of America Foundation, Inc.

The degree is based on the Future Farmer's record in farming, leadership and scholarship. The degree is limited to FFA members who have been out of high school at least one year and who are showing evidence of becoming successfully established in farming.

Announcement of Star Farmer awards will be made during the convention. One Future Farmer who is most outstanding will be named Star Farmer of America and will receive a $1,000 cash award.

Three others will receive regional Star Farmer awards of $500 each.

Ton-Mile Would Jeopardize Future Of State—Holman

FAIRBURY, Neb.—The ton-mile tax would place a serious obstacle before any company considering a move to Nebraska and would jeopardize the economic future of this state, Nate C. Holman, attorney for the Nebraska Producers and Consumers Committee, said here Wednesday.

Addressing the annual meeting of the Jefferson County Council at Fairbury Wednesday, Holman pointed out that small industry has located in Nebraska because of its favorable tax situation, good labor market and central location; but this would be seriously impaired by increased freight rates resulting from the ton-mile tax.

If the tax is adopted Nov. 6, manufacturing plants now located in the state would be placed in an unfavorable competitive position with similar plants located in other states, he warned, and would face two alternatives—that of raising their prices to cover increased costs, or moving to another area.

Dredla Denies He Is Doing Private Business On Job

Board of Control Chairman Thomas Dredla of Crete denied Wednesday he had carried on or conducted private business from his Statehouse office.

The charge Dredla had carried on such business was made Tuesday night by George Morris, former superintendent of the Reformatory, at a Jaycee dinner. Morris at the time also attacked Gov. Anderson on policy matters.

Dredla said Morris was "either mistaken or misinformed" in making his statement. The Board chairman said he had a farm and a law business, but the law business was handled solely by his son, Thomas Dredla.

Dredla said he hadn't visited his farm in five months.

Concluding, the Board chairman said he thought he was "being charitable in saying he (Morris) is misinformed."

Base Sets $20,000 United Fund Goal

A goal of $20,000 has been set for the United Charity Fund Drive for 1956 at the Lincoln Air Force Base. It is the first such drive to be held at the base.

Brig. Gen. Claude E. Putnam, commander of the 818th Air Division, said, "Voluntary support of campaigns of this nature is necessary in all American communities where we have traditionally joined together to aid worthwhile charitable endeavors."

Chairman of the drive for the base personnel which numbers approximately 6,000 is Col. Ralph W. Bond, 818th Air Division Director of Personnel.

HAMILTON, Ont. (U) — Artist Egbert Oudendag testified in court he agreed to stay in Max Kaye's funeral parlor while he painted two portraits of the undertaker.

"Many nights I shared my lodgings with one, sometimes two corpses," Oudendag complained.

Judge Timothy J. McKenna ordered Kaye to pay the $160 still due on the portraits. He dismissed the undertaker's counter claim against the artist for transportation and lodging.

ACCRA, Gold Coast (U) — The U.S. consul general to the Gold Coast, Donald Lamm, Wednesday presented 350 books to the Gold Coast bar and bench. The books are the gift of the U.S. law associations libraries and individual lawyers.

Increased Enrollment

Chancellor Clifford Hardin was able to report earlier in the week another impressive increase in the number of regular students at the University of Nebraska.

That classification find 8,387 registered, an increase of 535 over a year ago. It was the fourth successive year, Chancellor Hardin said, that the University had a substantial gain in regular student enrollment.

The figures do not include 2,050 students registered in the University of Nebraska's evening classes or off campus courses.

The breakdown of registration is equally significant. Registration of students in the College of Agriculture, despite drought years the last two seasons and discouraging agricultural conditions nationally, continues to be heavy. The registration shows 1,008 students registered in the College of Agriculture, only 80 less than the College of Business Administration. There are 1,333 registered in the Teachers College, 1,214 in Arts and Science and gratifyingly in a profession where an acute shortage now exists, 1,750 in the College of Engineering and architecture.

The increase for the fourth successive year confirms studies of anticipated growing enrollment in the University of Nebraska. The increase took place, Chancellor Hardin pointed out while the number of high school graduates remained approximately at the same level for four years, establishing a marked interest in higher education among Nebraska's young men and young women, a sound development greatly to be desired. That increase will be more marked when population gains reflects themselves in high school enrollment.

New One-Way Traffic

Lincoln motorists have been adept at adjusting to Lincoln's changing traffic pattern. They have another opportunity to demonstrate their versatility.

Sunday will mark the opening of a new stretch of one way traffic—this time from T Street on the north to Peach on the south in which Tenth Street will accommodate north bound traffic and Ninth southbound.

The change is expected to lighten the growing pressure on Tenth Street.

While the city finishes the preliminaries, mainly the installation of traffic lights and markers, motorists will do well to brief themselves on the new regulations. Traffic will generally run in three lanes. There is to be no parking on the east side of Ninth from T to P, and none on either side of Ninth from H to Peach. There will be no parking on the west side from Peach to South, and no parking anytime on T and Peach between Ninth and Tenth. And there will be no parking on the west side of Tenth from J to N between 7 and 9 a.m.

There are some who will regret the passing of Lincoln's old time easy traffic pattern but reflection points up the fact that growth brings its complexities and Lincoln thus far has been able to cope with change with a minimum of traffic disturbance and most will agree that the job has been well done

Invitations to Russia and four of her satellites to dispatch representatives here to observe democracy in action during the late stages of the current presidential campaign, including election day, create an interesting diversion, albeit it one whose ultimate benefit remains cloudy.

To such an authoritarian regime as is found in the Communist world free elections are about the last things to be desired and it is to be expected that official representatives, should they come, would be looking for things to criticize rather than principles to emulate.

And there are things that can be criticized. One of them would be the indifference of citizens who will take neither the time to listen to campaign utterances nor the effort to go to the polls on election day. Another would be the looseness with which some candidates treat the exact fact.

We would say that the greatest benefits, if any, to come from foreign observation of the American political way, would redound to the United States itself. It would put our candidates on the spot and should result in a more measured discussion of the issues. It would bring greater pressure upon the rank and file voters to stand witness to democracy by playing a better role in it.

As for worldwide good, it cannot be gainsaid that a well conducted campaign would impress non-Communist nations who still have a choice between standing with the free or joining the kept. A better place to send invitations is to such nations and especially those who only lately chose the democratic way and are still struggling with its intricacies.

Doenitz Is Free

Former Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz was a free man this week. Ten years in Spandau prison paid his debt and he was one of the first of the Nazi war criminals to be given his liberty.

He left the prison in a speeding car and shunned any demonstrations that might have been arranged as he sought refuge in the privacy of a friend's home. It was in sharp contrast to the authoritative role he played in the dying days of the war. He picked up the pieces of an abandoned Nazi government after Hitler's suicide and essayed to negotiate an eleventh hour peace with the Allies. He remained long enough to make an unconditional surrender. That was not his crime. Rather it was his ruthless direction of the Nazi submarine forces which sunk 15 million tons of allied shipping with cold disregard for even the shallow consideration for life that attends war.

The past now has buried the past. The interest in Doenitz henceforth will be his action and influence. If any, toward a resurgence of a modern form of Naziism. The return of former leaders brings that risk. The question at this stage however, should revolve about the development of conditions favorable to reaction. As long as West Germany remains reasonably prosperous and successful Doenitz and his kind will be only potential leaders with no consequential following.

Game's Over

If the Orange Bowl without Oklahoma offers something a little less than the New Year's Day public would like, then it looks like a good time to send some condolences out to the West Coast, too, where there will be a Rose bowl game.

Last Saturday Illinois dropped California's Golden Bears 32-20. Michigan smothered UCLA 42 to 13. Meanwhile Michigan State downed Stanford 21 to 7 and just to make it unanimous Minnesota ran up a 34 to 14 score on the Washington Huskies. If that first meeting of the seasons is a harbinger then the Rose Bowl game has already been decided with the Big Ten on top by a decisive margin.

School Bill Lost; Ike Didn't Push It

WASHINGTON — The dialogue between President Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson over federal aid to schools affords an excellent illustration of how different their approach is and must be to the same question.

In this era of surface peace and widespread prosperity with a Democratic congress as the fall guy, the President is ideally situated to use the broad general terms which suit his purpose. Stevenson must demand of the voter, certainly in the education matter, that he look hard into the package and think about what he sees.

President Eisenhower is especially effective because he thinks and acts in general terms. He dislikes detail and minutia; he leaves to his staff the plotting of political operations and he really cares very little about why the politicians act as they do and how they get the practical effects they seek under cover of their oratory.

When he lays the killing of federal aid to school construction solely to the Democrats, it is possible to believe that he really thinks so as it would not be possible of those seasoned cloakroom warriors, Theodore and Franklin Roosevelt and Harry Truman.

The true responsibility for killing the school bill and every other bill that is offered in the broad category of civil rights rests with the conservative coalition of Democrats, chiefly from the South, and Republicans, chiefly from the Midwest, which has dominated Congress since about 1938.

From this arrangement, largely perfected by the late Senator Robert A. Taft, Republicans draw the votes for the tax and money measures of paramount interest to their moneyed backers. In turn, they always find enough votes from their people in areas unemotional about civil rights to help kill the bills the Southerners think most important to them.

The tightened cloture rule adopted in the 80th Congress, making it harder than ever to stop filibusters. Lears the names of the late Sen. Kenneth Wherry of Nebraska, Republican, who was then acting majority leader, and Sen. Richard B. Russell, Democrat of Georgia. It is, in essence, the sign and seal of the coalition, as the Senate Finance Committee is its bulwark.

With few exceptions—Sen. Paul H. Douglas of Illinois, who has just joined it, and occasionally Sen. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma, both Democrats—there is really no majority and minority on Senate finance.

Sen. George W. Norris of Nebraska once put it that liberal government could prevail without being continuously in office with congressional majorities for 30 years because it would take that long to reform the Senate Finance Committee.

What President Eisenhower could have done, but did not do in the latest skirmish—the school construction bill defeated last July—was put the heat on House Republicans to vote for its passage.

Of this group, 73 voted to put the anti-segregation amendment in the bill, thus insuring a solid South vote against it. Then they voted against the bill when they could have passed it.

Republicans were then, as now, completely dependent on President Eisenhower being their candidate. His power over them was demonstrated in every issue where he chose to take a strong line, as on the farm bill and Hell's Canyon.

On the school bill, no such pressures came from the White House. This is a matter about which the cloakrooms, which are wired for the sound of the grapevine, cannot be mistaken. They know what a President does or refrains from doing.

It is frequently said that President Eisenhower does not think as should put the heat on Congress. The cloakrooms know he does it when he is silently interested.

The Southern Democrat faces a condition at home and not a foe when he fights against a civil rights bill. In the same way, Republicans can defend the coalition on the ground that they are the party of business and if they neglect its interests they may be defeated. They are not innocent of hypocrisy on civil rights.

An example of the case against them and Mr. Eisenhower is Illinois, which he recently entered to plead for the election of the entire Republican slate. Eight Illinois House members voted for the Powell amendment but against the school bill. Mr. Eisenhower called several of these by name in his Peoria appeal.

Not one of the eight has a situation in his district where he could be politically damaged by a pro-Negro vote. Like their fellow-Midwesterners, they can vote for civil rights if they please.

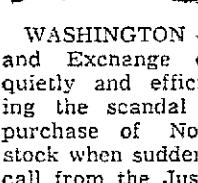

The President has never attempted to rally this crucial bloc which can join with liberal Democrats any day for civil rights but stays hatched just enough to the coalition to prevent that. Not all vote with the South every time, just enough. There is room for maneuver in case some member has a special problem.

In this situation liberal Democrats have relied, as now, upon the social and economic measures of the New Deal and Fair Deal to hold the Negro vote. The conservative coalition has not been able to stand against these bills affecting so many voters.

DREW PEARSON

SEC Investigation Is Quietly Down

WASHINGTON — The Securities and Exchange commission was quietly and efficiently investigating the scandal surrounding the purchase of Northeast Airlines stock when suddenly it got a phone call from the Justice Department.

Attorney General Brownell, SEC officials were informed, wanted the SEC investigation called off. SEC Chairman J. Sinclair Armstrong obediently bowed. The probe was canceled.

The Securities and Exchange Commission, established by law under Roosevelt to prevent stock-market manipulation, is a quasi-judicial agency. It is supposed to act independently of the executive branch of government. It is not supposed to take orders. It was so established in order to prevent any stock-market tampering such as influenced the disastrous Wall Street crash of the Hoover administration.

Despite this, Chairman Armstrong called off his probe just as his agents started to question some of the 40 or so people who bought Northeast Airlines stock after it was awarded the lush route between New York and Miami, but before that award was announced.

The stock shot up 14.5 points, and a lot of people made a killing.

Behind the killing are some very embarrassing facts. One is the fact that Georgia's Republican boss, Robert Snodgrass, bought 1,000 shares of Northeast for a quick profit of $2,500. Three aides of an important GOP senator also were in on the deal.

EMBARRASSING QUESTIONS

Also embarrassing are two reported phone calls by two Republican members of the Civil Aeronautics Board. CAB member Harmer Denny has denied that he leaked any confidential information to Delta Airlines' Washington representative, Robert Griffith. Griffith has also denied this and has also denied passing any information to a Georgia friend, GOP mogul Snodgrass.

Griffith would have faced some explaining if the SEC investigation had not been called off. For investigators have turned up a telephone slip which shows he made a long-distance call to Georgia shortly after the CAB made its secret decision to favor Northeast Airlines for the New York-Miami route.

Also it's become known that a party was held on the same night that CAB members voted for Northeast. Some of the CAB members were present at the party. So also were some of the insiders who next day made a fast buck on the stock market.

There were some of the facts which would have been revealed had not the Justice Department intervened.

Note—The Senate Investigating Committee has considered digging up the Northeast Airlines scandal. An affirmative decision, however, is doubtful. John McClellan, Arkansas Republican, seldom investigates anything which might embarrass his Republican friends.

NEGRO JUDGE

Though the President decided against Judge William Hastie of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the U.S. Supreme Court, his advisers have in mind appointment of another Negro to the federal bench.

He is Scovel Richardson of St. Louis, now chairman of the federal parole board. Richardson is due for appointment in the next few weeks as a U.S. district judge in eastern Missouri.

Though there is one Negro, Judge Hastie, on the Court of Appeals, no Negroes have been appointed to a federal district court. Mr. Richardson, born in Nashville, has been a practicing attorney in southern Illinois and St. Louis for some time, was appointed by Roosevelt as attorney in the Office of Price Administration, and has been an assistant to the chairman of the Republican National Committee.

Justice Department insiders indicate that Attorney General Brownell may have a dual motive in appointing Richardson to the federal bench in St. Louis: 1) recognition of a prominent Negro who would help with the Negro vote; 2) a slap at senior judge George Moore.

Judge Moore, who has served for two decades on the federal bench, has resented some of the Justice Department's tactics and hasn't hesitated to ride Brownell hard. Judge Moore also has his own ideas about Negro judges on the federal bench. Justice Department officials don't believe he would relish a Negro judge on his court.

Broken Bow, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: To quote another writer's phrase: "They're mad as Ezra but not at Ike." How can farmers who are unhappy with the administration's farm program be persuaded to get mad at Ike instead of Ezra? That explains the simple-minded set-up of the whole political situation. It is a hoax, if there ever was one put before the voters. The Republicans have the Democrats out on a limb, with Ike and Nixon covering their trail.

"It's a political phenomenon," said one party strategist, who also used the words, "completely paradoxical" and "false statements" because it says two opposite things on the same subject and gets nowhere with the people, who cannot separate their thinking as voters.

The Democrats will have to get down to brass tacks and quit saying, "Me, too." They must quit shunning the actual facts and put the blame right where it belongs. After all, this same paradoxical controversy has been going on for many years. Each party fights with words by the millions for precedence in economic determination, blaming each other on the same abuses and leaving the voters in a quandary and a state of perplexity.

So the Republicans have removed the word, "poverty," from the dictionary? Fourteen million bonafide citizens on county relief and old age assistance rise up and say, "tain't so." The Republicans blame the Democrats for that. Those who went through the wringer know different. Where were the Republicans during the 74th session of Congress when H. R. 7260 was passed? Partisanship was forgotten. It went through with a howling majority in both houses.

Farm And Labor

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Recently an editorial appeared in the Rock County Leader (Bassett, Neb.), and to say that I'd disagree with this editorial would be putting it mildly. It was based upon a pamphlet put out by the National Association of Manufacturers in which the charge is made that organized labor seeks to control Congress, presumably for its own ends.

There is a consistent effort being made by a large percentage of our press to create hate between the laboring man and the agriculturists, and labor is made to appear the goat in the rising cost of living. One example as to whom to lay the blame on is the recent strike by steel unions to gain a parity between living costs and wages. The steel companies and the middle-man, who set an all-time record for net profits last year, refused to absorb any of the raise whatever—adding to the consumer's cost.

As I understood the editorial referred to, the laboring man—and we'd just as well include the farmers because they are as one—should not be able to unite in an

Try It On Someone Else

Invitations to Russia and four of her satellites to dispatch representatives here to observe democracy in action during the late stages of the current presidential campaign, including election day, create an interesting diversion, albeit it one whose ultimate benefit remains cloudy.

A better place to send invitations is to such nations and especially those who only lately chose the democratic way and are still struggling with its intricacies.

Without impugning the honesty and integrity of either Ike or Adlai, it is sufficient to suggest that both cannot be right. When the President insists it was the Democrats who killed the federal school aid bill, he is in a position to make the final vote on that measure but one of the earlier skirmishes over the Powell amendment relating to the distribution of funds in the bitter segregation struggle. It was a coalition of conservative southern Democrats and Republicans which defeated the legislation. And that coalition has been active and effective in crucial, critical legislative battles so much of the time in the last decade and a half. On occasions when the chips were down, it was the decisive voice whether a bill got a favorable vote or met up with defeat. This working coalition, especially in the Senate, has not been healthy in contributing to party responsibility in the practical day-by-day working of the two-party system. Yet a great many who love to talk about the two-party system, and glorify it, never seem to be critical of this strange partnership.

So Ike can say to his people that it was the Democrats who killed his federal-aid-to-education bill and the Democratic candidate for the presidency, Mr. Stevenson, can point out that on final passage, a majority of the Democrats supported the measure rather than casting votes against it. And the man whose name appeared on the legislation, Rep. Augustin B. Kelly of Pennsylvania, who surely ought to know what happened to his legislation, says that Mr. Eisenhower appears to be confused on the facts.

Miss Fleeson's determination to get at the facts adds luster to the dedicated spirit in which her column has been written. There are many Washington commentators and columnists. And yet only she—and she alone—among all of those working out of Washington and at this particular time directing their energies to writing about the presidential campaign of 1956, seems to think there is any merit in attempting to get to the bottom of this glaring discrepancy in the statements of two men seeking to be elected President. We have reached a stage in this campaign where the charges and the counter-charges have become thick and furious. Ike was reported by Gov. McKeldin of Maryland to be hopping mad over the charges against the administration. Mr. Stevenson replied directly to the President. Speaker Rayburn in a public statement said Mr. Eisenhower was wrong on the federal-aid-to-education bill. The sponsor of that legislation says that the President is wrong. Miss Fleeson says that the confusion grows out of this working coalition between southern Democrats and Republicans. As we recall the struggle, it is an echo of the furious battle over the Powell amendment striking directly at the heart of segregation.

This is to call attention to Miss Fleeson's column which appears on this page, a capable reporter who knows the score. At this stage of the game, it is important to have all the facts in front of the public. It is not too much to expect that in this controversy the American press should make an effort to find out whether the vote cited by Mr. Eisenhower tells the full story or whether the charges by Mr. Stevenson are fully substantiated by the record.

Sen. George W. Norris of Nebraska once put it that liberal government could prevail without being continuously in office with congressional majorities for 20 years because it would take that long to reform the Senate Finance Committee.

What President Eisenhower could have done, but did not do in the latest skirmish—the school construction bill defeated last July—was put the heat on House Republicans to vote for its passage.

Of this group, 73 voted to put the anti-segregation amendment in the bill, thus insuring a solid South vote against it. Then they voted against the bill when they could have passed it.

Republicans were then, as now, completely dependent on President Eisenhower being their candidate. His power over them was demonstrated in every issue where he chose to take a strong line, as on the farm bill and Hell's Canyon.

On the school bill, no such pressures came from the White House. This is a matter about which the cloakrooms, which are wired for the sound of the grapevine, cannot be mistaken. They know what a President does or refrains from doing.

It is frequently said that President Eisenhower does not think he should put the heat on Congress. The cloakrooms know he does it when he is sufficiently interested.

The Southern Democrat faces a condition at home and not a theory when he fights against a civil rights bill. In the same way, Republicans can defend the coalition on the ground that they are the party of business and if they neglect its interests they may be defeated. They are not innocent of hypocrisy on civil rights.

An example of the case against them and Mr. Eisenhower is Illinois, which he recently entered to plead for the election of the entire Republican slate. Eight Illinois House members voted for the Powell amendment but against the school bill. Mr. Eisenhower called several of these by name in his Peoria appeal.

Not one of the eight has a situation in his district where he could be politically damaged by a pro-Negro vote. Like their fellow-Midwesterners, they can vote for civil rights if they please.

The President has never attempted to rally this crucial bloc which can join with liberal Democrats any day for civil rights but stays hitched just enough to the coalition to prevent that. Not all vote with the South every time, just enough. There is room for maneuver in case some member has a special problem.

In this situation liberal Democrats have relied, as now, upon the social and economic measures of the New and Fair Deals to hold the Negro vote. The conservative coalition has not been able to stand against these bills affecting so many voters.

SEC Investigation Is Quieted Down

WASHINGTON — The Securities and Exchange Commission was quietly and efficiently investigating the scandal surrounding the purchase of Northeast Airlines stock when suddenly it got a phone call from the Justice Department.

Attorney General Brownell, SEC officials were informed, wanted the SEC investigation called off. SEC Chairman J. Sinclair Armstrong obediently bowed. The probe was canceled.

The Securities and Exchange Commission, established by law under Roosevelt to prevent stock-market manipulation, is a quasi-judicial agency. It is supposed to act independently of the executive branch of government. It is not supposed to take orders. It was so established in order to prevent any stock-market tampering such as influenced the disastrous Wall Street crash of the Hoover administration.

Despite this, Chairman Armstrong called off his probe just as his agents started to question some of the 40 or so people who bought Northeast Airlines stock after it was awarded the lush route between New York and Miami, but before that award was announced.

The stock shot up 14.5 points, and a lot of people made a killing.

Behind the killing are some very embarrassing facts. One is the fact that Georgia's Republican boss, Robert Snodgrass, bought 1,000 shares of Northeast for a quick profit of $2,500. Three aides of an important GOP senator also were in on the deal.

EMBARRASSING QUESTIONS

Also embarrassing are two reported phone calls by two Republican members of the Civil Aeronautics Board. CAB member Harry Denny has denied that he leaked any confidential information to Delta Airlines' Washington representative, Robert Griffith. Griffith has also denied this and has also denied passing any information to his Georgia friend, GOP mogul Snodgrass.

Griffith would have faced some explaining if the SEC investigation had not been called off. For investigators have turned up a telephone slip which shows he made a long-distance call to Georgia shortly after the CAB made its secret decision to favor Northeast Airlines for the New York-Miami route.

Also it's become known that a party was held on the same night that CAB members voted for Northeast. Some of the CAB members were present at the party. So also were some of the insiders who next day made a fast buck on the stock market.

These were some of the facts which would have been revealed had not the Justice Department intervened.

Note—The Senate Investigating Committee has considered digging up the Northeast Airlines scandal. An affirmative decision, however, is doubtful. John McClellan, Arkansas Republican, seldom investigates anything which might embarrass his Republican friends.

NEGRO JUDGE

Though the President decided against Judge William Hastie of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the U.S. Supreme Court, his advisers have in mind appointment of another Negro to the federal bench.

He is Scovel Richardson of St. Louis, now chairman of the federal parole board. Richardson is due for appointment in the next few weeks as a U.S. district judge in eastern Missouri.

Though there is one Negro, Judge Hastie, on the Court of Appeals, no Negroes have been appointed to a federal district court. Mr. Richardson, born in Nashville, has been a practicing attorney in southern Illinois and St. Louis for some time, was appointed by Roosevelt as attorney in the Office of Price Administration, and has been an assistant to the chairman of the Republican National Committee.

Justice Department insiders indicate that Attorney General Brownell may have a dual motive in appointing Richardson to the federal bench in St. Louis: 1) recognition of a prominent Negro who would help with the Negro vote; 2) a slap at senior judge George Moore.

Judge Moore, who has served for two decades on the federal bench, has resented some of the Justice Department's tactics and hasn't hesitated to ride Brownell hard. Judge Moore also has his own ideas about Negro judges on the federal bench. Justice Department officials don't believe he would relish a Negro judge on his court.

He stuck to his tractor, he said, and "just shut my eyes and went ahead, hoping for the best." Somehow he managed to stay on his own property without meandering over into neighboring land. The News suggests that "if we have many more dusty winds like that, it might be necessary to equip tractors with radar. In some areas, visibility was cut to a few yards."

Phenomenal

Broken Bow, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: To quote another writer's phrase: "They're mad as Ezra but not at Ike." How can farmers who are unhappy with the administration's farm program be persuaded to get mad at Ike instead of Ezra? That explains the simple-minded set-up of the whole political situation. It is a hoax, if there ever was one put before the voters. The Republicans have the Democrats out on a limb, with Ike and Nixon covering their trail.

"It's a political phenomenon," said one party strategist, who also used the words, "completely paradoxical" and "false statements" because it says two opposite things on the same subject and puts nowhere with the people, who cannot separate their thinking as voters.

The Democrats will have to get down to brass tacks and quit saying, "Me, too." They must quit shunning the actual facts and put the blame right where it belongs. After all, this same paradoxical controversy has been going on for many years. Each party fights with words by the millions for precedence in economic determination, blaming each other on the same abuses and leaving the voters in a quandary and a state of perplexity.

So the Republicans have removed the word, "poverty," from the dictionary? Fourteen million bonafide citizens on county relief and old age assistance rise up and say, "tain't so." The Republicans blame the Democrats for that. Those who went through the wringer know different. Where were the Republicans during the 74th session of Congress when H. R. 7260 was passed? Partisanship was forgotten. It went through with a howling majority in both houses.

MALCOLM D. STONE

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Recently an editorial appeared in the Rock County Leader (Bassett, Neb.), and to say that I disagreed with this editorial would be putting it mildly. It was based upon a pamphlet put out by the National Association of Manufacturers in which the charge is made that organized labor seeks to control Congress, presumably for its own ends.

There is a consistent effort being made by a large percentage of our press to create hate between the laboring man and the agriculturists, and labor is made to appear the goat in the rising cost of living. One example as to whom to lay the blame on is the recent strike by steel unions to gain a parity between living costs and wages. The steel companies and the middle-man, who set an all-time record for net profits last year, refused to absorb any of the raise whatever—adding to the consumer's cost.

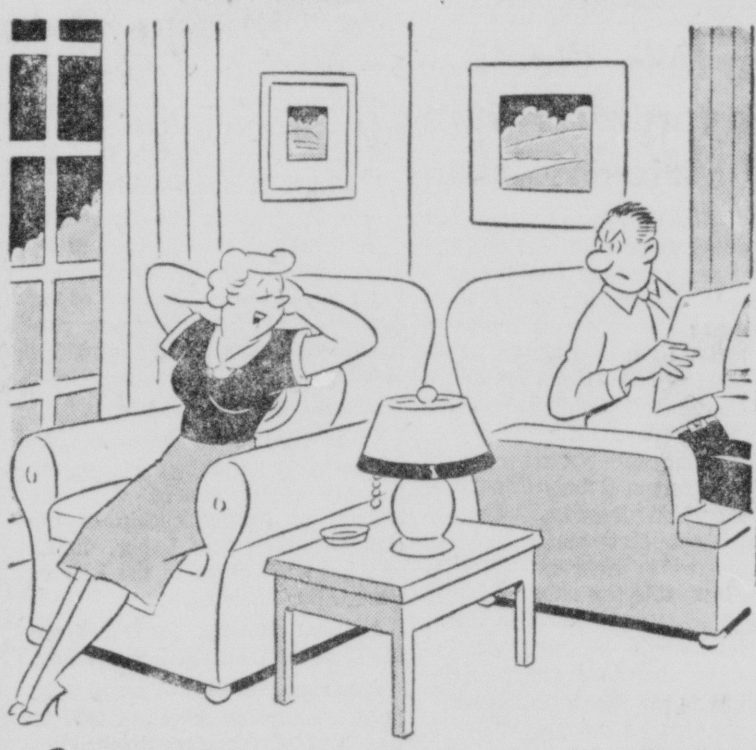

As I understood the editorial referred to, the laboring man—and we'd just as well include the farmers because they are as one—should not be able to unite in an

Falls Citizens Ask Blocktop—Rulo To Border

By ROY CAMPBELL
Star Staff Writer

A Falls City road delegation filed a request Wednesday with Gov. Victor Anderson and State Engineer L. N. Riss for blacktopping seven miles of gravel south of Rulo to the Kansas line.

The road would connect Hwy. 4 south of Rulo with Kansas two miles north of White Cloud, according to Homer Wiltse, Falls City attorney and head of the delegation.

Wiltse told Gov. Anderson the Army Corps of Engineers has made known plans to rebuild a bridge across the Nemaha River washed away during the 1951 flood. With this bridge replaced, Wiltse said, in addition to the blacktopping there would be "the makings of a good permanent road."

The delegation also asked for consideration of grading and blacktopping 3.10 miles of road west of Falls City toward the Pawnee County line.

Riss estimated the cost at about $160,000, including a new bridge over the Nemaha. He also said the blacktopping of the road south of Rulo "is a long time in the future."

FALLS CITY, Neb. (AP)—J. E. Palensky & Sons are confident they have a commercial producer in a new oil discovery on the Charles Strawn farm, three miles southwest of Dawson.

Wiltse noted that Kansas had blacktopped its Hwy. 7 leading up to the Nemaha crossing.

Gov. Anderson told the delegation he and Riss couldn't put any roads on the highway system and that this can only be done on recommendation of the State Highway Advisory Commission.

Riss told the group the Rulosouth road never was on the state highway system, and would rate low priority in the 465 miles of road added by the past Legislature if added to the state system.

Gov. Anderson noted he was "not going to ask the Legislature for any more money than they want to give."

The governor said the state is getting more money usable for federal matching funds because of roads that have been blacktopped during the past two years. He noted the blacktop roads are much less expensive to maintain than gravel roads.

Others appearing with the delegation included S. J. Brown, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce road committee of Falls City, Marion Lasater, president of the Chamber, and Ben Dale, county engineer of Richardson County.

Britain Disciplines Its Reservists in Cyprus

LONDON (AP)—The War Office announced Wednesday night that 21 British reservists are under close arrest in Cyprus for a "noisy and undisciplined" disturbance.

The announcement said the disturbance took place two days ago in a Royal Army Service Corps unit.

Reports have been widespread in recent weeks that reservists called back into service because of the Suez crisis are bored and discontented. War Minister Anthony Head last week denied that any serious trouble or "near mutiny" existed.

Top Corn Yield Of 164 Bushels Reported By Farmer Near Avoca

Despite drought conditions over Nebraska, corn growers are reporting yields ranging up to 164 bushels per acre. The high yields are coming from irrigated and bottomland areas.

Walter Harner of near Avoca expressed amazement when he husked 140 pounds of corn from a 150-foot row in his field.

"At this rate, according to my figures, it's making 164 bushels and 20 pounds per acre," he reported. "After this was cultivated three times I went in and pulled all the weeds out of the row and jerked all the suckers off. Think of such corn as this in a season of intense heat, drought and grasshoppers."

"It's the greatest corn I ever saw," he declared.

Out in Nuckolls County, Bill Shuck, who farms south of Edgar, opened harvest operations in that area with a 124 bushel per acre yield. His quarter of a section corn crop is under irrigation.

And from Hamilton County comes the report of a 132 bushel per acre yield on the Harvey Springer farm near Aurora. Springer has 40 acres of irrigated corn.

Hamilton County Agent Corwin Mead reports the corn yield in his county very spotted this year. The corn borer and earworm attack on the crop was lighter this year, the county agent added.

Harvesting Problem
RED CLOUD, Neb.—Many Webster County farmers report that in addition to the long dry spell, high winds have snapped a lot of brittle ears off the corn stalks, increasing the harvesting problem.

Haigler Twins Win Welding Awards

Twin brothers, Richard, right, and Robert Ambrosek, of Haigler, Neb., shared top honors and the first award of $600 in the annual national arc welding competition sponsored for farm high school students by a Cleveland, O., arc welding foundation. A duplicate award of $600 honoring the boy's achievement was also made by the foundation to their school, the Chase County High School in Imperial, Neb. The Ambrosek brothers were rated among the best young farm mechanics in the country, topping entries from 35 different states. The boys received their recognition for a description of a live-

Msgr. Ingenhorst Goes To Exeter

EXETER, Neb.—The Right Rev. Msgr. H. H. Ingenhorst of St. Joseph's parish at Paul, southwest of Nebraska City, has been named pastor of St. Stephen's parish at Exeter, it was announced by Bishop Louis B. Kucera.

Msgr. Ingenhorst will succeed the late Rt. Rev. Msgr. Patrick Healy at Exeter.

Retirement Hike Will Affect 508 Workers In State

WASHINGTON — The Civil Service Commission estimates that 508 federal employees in Nebraska will retire during the next 12 months under the higher annuities authorized by Congress this year.

For the nation as a whole, the commission estimated about 15,000 federal employees would retire at the end of this month, a figure about five times the normal average monthly retirement of about 3,000. For the year, the total may reach 62,000, the commission said.

It is estimated the retirement pay of the 62,000, based on an average of $2,040 annually, will total about $126,480,000 yearly.

Slaughter Mark Down Slightly

Commercial slaughter in Nebraska during August totaled 226,602,000 pounds live weight, down only slightly from July but 11 per cent under August of last year, the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics reported.

Compared with July, the slaughter was up on cattle, calves, sheep and lambs, but smaller on hogs. Compared with August of last year, slaughter was lighter for all species except calves.

Cattle slaughtered in August totaled 161,000 head averaging 968 pounds in weight, 10 pounds lighter than a year ago.

An estimated 251,000 hogs were slaughtered at a weight averaging 246 pounds, two pounds lighter than last year.

The sheep and lamb slaughter totaled 81,000 head averaging 95

pounds live weight, two pounds lighter than the year-ago average.

Top Corn Yield Of 164 Bushels Reported By Farmer Near Avoca

Despite drought conditions over Nebraska, corn growers are reporting yields ranging up to 164 bushels per acre. The high yields are coming from irrigated and bottomland areas.

Walter Harmer of near Avoca expressed amazement when he husked 140 pounds of corn from a 150-foot row in his field.

"At this rate, according to my figures, it's making 164 bushels and 20 pounds per acre," he reported. "After this was cultivated three times I went in and pulled all the weeds out of the row and jerked all the suckers off. Think of such corn as this in a season of intense heat, drought and grasshoppers."

"It's the greatest corn I ever saw," he declared.

Out in Nuckolls County, Bill Shuck, who farms south of Edgar, opened harvest operations in that area with a 134 bushel per acre yield. His quarter of a section corn crop is under irrigation.

And from Hamilton County comes the report of a 132 bushel per acre yield on the Harvey Springer farm near Aurora. Springer has 40 acres of irrigated corn.

Hamilton County Agent Corwin Mead reports the corn yield in his county very spotted this year. The corn borer and earworm attack on the crop was lighter this year, the county agent added.

Harvesting Problem

RED CLOUD, Neb.—Many Webster County farmers report that in addition to the long dry spell, high winds have snapped a lot of brittle-dry ears off the corn stalks, increasing the harvesting problem.

Haigler Twins Win Welding Awards

Twin brothers, Richard, right, and Robert Ambrosek, of Haigler, Neb., shared top honors and the first award of $600 in the annual national arc welding competition sponsored for farm high school students by a Cleveland, O., arc welding foundation. A duplicate award of $600 honoring the boy's achievement was also made by the foundation to their school, the Chase County High School in Imperial, Neb. The Ambrosek brothers were rated among the best young farm mechanics in the country, topping entries from 35 different states. The boys received their recognition for a description of a live-

Msgr. Ingenhorst Goes To Exeter

Msgr. Ingenhorst will succeed the late Rt. Rev. Msgr. Patrick Healy at Exeter.

Retirement Hike Will Affect 508 Workers In State

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Civil Service Commission estimates that 508 federal employees in Nebraska will retire during the next 12 months under the higher annuities authorized by Congress this year.

For the nation as a whole, the commission estimated about 15,000 federal employees would retire at the end of this month, a figure about five times the normal average monthly retirement of about 3,000. For the year, the total may reach 62,000, the commission said.

It is estimated the retirement pay of the 62,000, based on an average of $2,040 annually, will total about $126,480,000 yearly.

Slaughter Mark Down Slightly

Commercial slaughter in Nebraska during August totaled 226,602,000 pounds live weight, down only slightly from July but 11 per cent under August of last year, the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics reported.

Compared with July, the slaughter was up on cattle, calves, sheep and lambs, but smaller on hogs. Compared with August of last year, slaughter was lighter for all species except calves.

Cattle slaughtered in August totaled 161,000 head averaging 968 pounds in weight, 10 pounds lighter than a year ago.

An estimated 251,000 hogs were slaughtered at a weight averaging 246 pounds, two pounds lighter than last year.

The sheep and lamb slaughter totaled 81,000 head averaging 95

pounds live weight, two pounds lighter than the year-ago average.

UAL Prefers Relinquishing Flights To Any Competition

WASHINGTON (AP)—United Airlines said Wednesday it would rather give up its flights to Grand Island, North Platte and Scottsbluff, than compete with another airline in that area.

United also asked the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) to allow it to serve both Iowa City and Cedar Rapids, Iowa, from the Cedar Rapids Airport. United now uses airports of both cities which are about 18 miles apart.

Presenting United's case at a CAB hearing on proposals for local air service in seven midwestern states, Attorney Frank McAdams said the Grand Island North Platte Scottsbluff area "will economically support but one air carrier."

Hand-Husking Champs Will Demonstrate

COLUMBUS, Neb. (AP)—One of the features of the National Mechanical Corn Picking Contest here Oct. 11-12 will be a flashback to the early forties, when the contest was picked by hand.

Five national hand-husking champions will stage a demonstration at the contest site Friday morning.

Heading the list of title holders will be Elmer Carlson of Audubon, Iowa, 1935 champion and world record-holder. Also appearing will be Carl Carlson, Audubon (1936); Sherman Henriksen, Lincoln (1937); James Podliska, Lincoln (1938); James Podliska, Lincoln (1939); and Ted Balke, Redwood Falls, Minn., (1934 and 1935).

Elmer Carlson's world record of husking 41 bushels of corn in 80 minutes was set at the 1935 national contest at Attica, Ind.

Falls City Area's Current Drought Worst In History

FALLS CITY, Neb. (AP)—The current drought is the most severe in local history according to the records of Kate Kloeppel, weather observer.

At the present time there is a moisture deficiency of 15.46 inches. So far in 1936 the moisture total is 12.23 inches. The yearly average is 27.69 inches.

In 1934, previously regarded as the driest year, the moisture from Jan. 1 to Oct. 1 amounted to 20.49 inches.

Seward 4-H Dairy Team Wins Tenth In National Meet

A Seward County 4-H dairy judging team placed tenth in the national 4-H club contest at the Dairy Cattle Congress in Waterloo, Ia.

The Seward County team included Billy Imig, Seward; Margaret Ann Stahly, Beaver Crossing; Roger Luebke, Goehner; and Roger Landner, Seward.

Hitchhiker Says Fall Circumstances Vague

YORK, Neb. (AP)—Edward O'Mailha, 51, of Kansas City, Mo., says he can't remember whether he jumped or was pushed from a car in which he had hitched a ride.

O'Mailha was reported in satisfactory condition in York General Hospital after being brought in for treatment when he was picked up by a motorist who saw him plunge from the car.

O'Mailha said he was picked up by three men whom he said were drinking heavily.

He reported that they asked him if he had a gun and when he told them he did not have one they demanded his billfold, from which they took $4 and returned it.

Sheriff Lewis Ekart said O'Mailha told him he was queried about the possibility of the men obtaining a gun to be used in a "stick-up on an Omaha bank."

O'Mailha said objections arose when he wanted to get out of the car and a scuffle took place. He said he could not say definitely if he jumped or was shoved from the moving car 2 1/4 miles west of the Staehr station. He suffered several body and head abrasions and contusions and pavement burns on his body.

Dallas G. Schultz of Lincoln, who was traveling behind the car and saw O'Mailha plunge from the car supported his statement that the operator of the car was intoxicated and that there was a scuffle. He notified the York sheriff's office.

McAdams said that although United makes only a marginal profit at the three cities, it is willing to continue to serve them on a non-competitive basis.

The CAB's Bureau of Air Operations has recommended that a local air service be provided in the area. Both Frontier and Ozard Airlines have proposed such service.

McAdams said United also would object to another airline being authorized to serve such nearby Nebraska cities as Hastings and Kearney because "the service of another carrier to these latter cities would, in United's opinion, divert revenues needed by United to maintain an economic operation at Grand Island, North Platte, and Scottsbluff."

School Aid Bill Sponsor Kelley Says Both Parties To Blame For Its Defeat

WASHINGTON (INS) — Rep. Augustine Kelley (D-Pa.) sponsor of the federal school aid bill which has become a prime issue in the 1956 campaigns, said Wednesday Democrats and Republicans were both to blame for its defeat.

Adlai E. Stevenson has charged that the GOP was responsible for scuttling the legislation, while President Eisenhower has pinned the blame on the Democrats. But Kelley asserted.

"Neither party as a party can claim lily-white performance."

In a news letter to small newspapers in his congressional district, Kelley, commenting that "I should know something about that as the author of the measure," said a coalition of Northern Republicans and Southern Democrats defeated the bill.

Sided

He said: "The facts are you see, that enough Northern Republicans sided with enough Democrats to kill the Kelley Bill."

An aide explained the congressman was referring to the fact that GOP House members voted for a civil rights amendment to the bill which would have barred funds to segregated schools and then joined Southern Democrats, who opposed the amendment, in killing the bill altogether.

The news letter differed somewhat from another statement put out by the Pennsylvania Democrat Wednesday in which he said Adlai Stevenson is correct in his statement that the Republicans are responsible for defeat of my bill.

House speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.), pointed out Tuesday that in the vote on final passage of the Kelley Bill 119 Democrats and "only 75 Republicans" were for it, compared with 119 Republicans and 105 Democrats opposed.

"Clear Vote"

Rayburn said this was the only vote that "counted."

But the President said Monday Democrats voted 215 to 9 against that "the only clear vote on my call to action" was on a Republican motion to make the bill conform with his belief "that federal aid be distributed to states on the basis of need." On this motion, the

Mr. Eisenhower.

But Kelley insisted that his bill "was requested by the President and he said he was willing to accept its formula for distribution of the money." The Democratic formula provided for distributing the funds according to each state's school population.

STAN DELAPLANE'S

POSTCARD

The U.S. Census Bureau which has charge of counting you and your neighbors came up with a curious piece of reasoning the other day.

"The Average American is 30 years old," they said. "He has two children and a mortgage on the house."

Having fluffed off this piece of goods to let the General Accounting Office know they were on the job, the Bureau shut up.

Well, I used to take what my Government handed me without question. And glad it was information and not just another invitation to pay back taxes.

However, I looked into this. And have discovered the way the Census Bureau got the answer: Just added up all the people and their ages and divided them.

This is so simple I could have done it myself.

Also I think this gives a distorted picture.

If half the people had 20 20 vision and the other half are like me, does that make the average man have one eye?

The only reason I bring this up is because I read that the Bureau's information is of great value to industry. Industry waits for the Bureau to set out the handicap sheet on the average man. Then they give it to the ad agency.

The average bloke is 30 years with a sunken chest and cardboard in his shoes. We will therefore step up our campaign for Cardboard Cords, "The Shoe

With the Blotting Paper Feeling"
That is what must have happened when the Haymaker Shirt man came up with a patch on his eye. Somebody got my glasses prescription mixed into the general average.

That is the only way I can explain how all the ads these days show up with strange individuals modeling the product.

The Schweppes man shows up with a beaver on his chin.

tooed. The Census Bureau probably dropped a couple of tattooed ladies into the general average. And all hands come up with a bleeding heart and dagger on the chest.

The average man is pretty curious. Stewed, tattooed and signed on again.

Mr. Average comes out once a year. And each time he is announced, I look around my neighborhood to find him. The Bureau makes him so real, I sort of expect to find him walking into the corner grocery for a can of spaghetti or something.

Would you believe it, I have never run into Mr. Average?

Once I found a man who came close to it. He was 30 and had two children and his house was plastered. All according to the rules. He had an average job in a bank.

One day the cops came around looking for Mr. Average.

It seems he had averaged things out by taking off for Las Vegas with some of the larger samples of the teller's window. When the Johnny Nabs caught up with him, he was about as un-average as you can get.

British Trade Plan Could Challenge U.S. And Reds

LONDON (U. S. P.) — Two British leaders Wednesday night disclosed plans to lead Britain into a European trading partnership that could challenge American and Russian economic supremacy.

Chancellor of the Exchequer,
Harold Macmillan told a news conference Britain is considering joining 11 of its continental friends in a giant free trade area and common market of nearly 250 million people.

The nations of Britain's globe-girding Commonwealth have been invited to link themselves with the free trade area in which tariffs would be cut and eventually abolished over a 10-year period.
President of the Board of Trade

Farm And Home Radio Purchases Capital Company

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (U. S. P.) — Don Searle, president of Farm and Home Radio, Wednesday announced the purchase of the stock of Capital Broadcasting Co., which owns radio station KFNF, Shenandoah, Iowa.

In addition to the stockholders of Farm and Home Radio, Bill Mertin, executive vice president of the Farm and Home group;
Ken Titus, general manager of KMMJ, Grand Island, and Ed Mason, general manager of KXXX, Colby, Kan., will also be stockholders in KFNF.

KFNF, originally operated by the Henry Field Seed Co., first went on the air in 1924.

Searle said the station will be operated as a major farm and area service station.

Peter Thorneycroft said if the plan goes forward it may "shape commercial patterns perhaps for a generation or more."

Political Factors

Far-reaching economic and political factors lie in back of Britain's new attitude toward an association with Europe that it traditionally has shunned.

On the economic level Britain fears that an old paper project for a customs union among West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg soon might become a working reality.
It undoubtedly would be dominated by the booming industries of West Germany to the gradual exclusion of British goods.

The proposed free trade area would be open to Commonwealth goods and would provide sources of new capital for the countries of the Commonwealth and colonies whose hunger for investment the British are unable to satisfy.

On the political level the project would serve to lessen the dependence both of Britain and West Europe on the United States.

Fixation

This aspiration has become almost a fixation with some British and French policy makers.

They argue privately that the Suez crisis has shown American support cannot be counted on in election years even when vital Allied interests are at stake.

Macmillan said the idea of linking Britain with the proposed free trade area has emerged as a compromise between joining or shunning the embryo customs union of the six continental states.

If Britain stays out of the customs union it would mean at least "a loss of advantage for our exports to European markets," he said.

'Collapse'

If Britain joins, it would mean the 'collapse' of our system of imperial preference" which gives mutual tariff benefits to Commonwealth imports and exports, he added.

Macmillan described the project thus: "If Western Europe, including the United Kingdom, could develop into a free trading area, this would undoubtedly be a great source of strength — a common market of nearly 250-million people."

"It would, over a period, be able to provide for this country the full

British Trade Plan Could Challenge U.S. And Reds

LONDON (AP)—Two British leaders Wednesday night disclosed plans to lead Britain into a European trading partnership that could challenge American and Russian economic supremacy.

Chancellor of the Exchequer, Harold Macmillan told a news conference Britain is considering joining 11 of its continental friends in a giant free trade area and common market of nearly 250 million people.

The nations of Britain's globe-girdling Commonwealth have been invited to link themselves with the free trade area in which tariffs would be cut and eventually abolished over a 10-year period. President of the Board of Trade

Peter Thorneycroft said if the plan goes forward it may "shape commercial patterns perhaps for a generation or more."

Political Factors

Far-reaching economic and political factors lie in back of Britain's new attitude toward an association with Europe that it traditionally has shunned.

On the economic level Britain fears that an old paper project for a customs union among West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg soon might become a working reality. It undoubtedly would be dominated by the booming industries of West Germany to the gradual exclusion of British goods.

The proposed free trade area would be open to Commonwealth goods and would provide sources of new capital for the countries of the Commonwealth and colonies whose hunger for investment the British are unable to satisfy.

On the political level the project would serve to lessen the dependence both of Britain and West Europe on the United States.

Fixation

This aspiration has become almost a fixation with some British and French policy makers. They argue privately that the Suez crisis has shown American support cannot be counted on in election years even when vital Allied interests are at stake.

Macmillan said the idea of linking Britain with the proposed free trade area has emerged as a compromise between joining or shunning the embryo customs union of the six continental states.

If Britain stays out of the customs union it would mean at least "a loss of advantage for our exports to European markets," he said.

'Collapse'

If Britain joins, it would mean the "collapse of our system of imperial preference" which gives mutual tariff benefits to Commonwealth imports and exports, he added.

Macmillan described the project thus: "If Western Europe, including the United Kingdom, could develop into a free trading area, this would undoubtedly be a great source of strength—a common market of nearly 250-million people.

"It would, over a period, be able to provide for this country the full advantages of large-scale production which tend in the modern world to be associated with big economic units, such as the U.S.A. and now the U.S.S.R. If this group were strong and prosperous it would moreover be advantageous for the Commonwealth from two points of view—as a market and as a source of capital."

Members of the free trade area would be Britain and the six countries negotiating the customs union plus Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Austria and Switzerland. Other members of the Organization for European Economic Cooperation could join if they wished.

Farm And Home Radio Purchases Capital Company

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP)—Don Searle, president of Farm and Home Radio, Wednesday announced the purchase of the stock of Capital Broadcasting Co., which owns radio station KFNF, Shendaoh, Iowa.

In addition to the stockholders of Farm and Home Radio, Bill Martin, executive vice president of the Farm and Home group; Ken Titus, general manager of KMMJ, Grand Island, and Ed Mason, general manager of KXXX, Colby, Kan., will also be stockholders in KFNF.

KFNF, originally operated by the Henry Field Seed Co., first went on the air in 1924.

Searle said the station will be operated as a major farm and area service station.

GOOD NEWS--AND HAPPY PEOPLE

MORE happy people this morning! The Dodgers—the Means—and while for Dr. and Mrs. Arden Means the Isle of Capri did not materialize yesterday, numerous other things did—for Mrs. Means, at least—When Dr. Means and his wife, the former Pat Wieland of Lincoln, return to Holdrege, Mrs. Means really should have a one-woman fashion show and display all of the apparel she received on the Big Payoff.

But back to town and the happy events here—The Hugh

Williams—Mr. and Mrs. (Mary Jean Neely) and their small son David are back from Japan—and Mr. Williams is just about out of the service. While he is at Camp Chaffee where he will be restored to civilian life, Mrs. Williams and David are the guests of Mrs. Williams' parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. Marshall Neely. We hear, however, that Mr. Williams plans to be back in Omaha where the family will reside, next Tuesday and that he will be joined there by Mrs. Neely and David.

JUST learned that next Tuesday is moving day for Mr. and Mrs. James Nicola and their family whose new address will be 3136 So. Vine in Denver, Colo. There have been numerous farewell courtesies for Mr. and Mrs. Nicola during the past several weeks, and this week-end the family will be in York for a family party.

SPEAKING of parties—it was a fun affair that Mr. and Mrs. Vance Traphagen and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Yates of Wilmette, Ill., gave on Monday when they entertained at an "after-five" party in post-nuptial courtesy to Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hall of Omaha. Mrs. Hall, just to refresh your memory, was Miss Kay Kinsey before her marriage on Sept. 21.

ARRIVING this week-end for a Friday-to-Sunday stay will be Mr. and Mrs. Clive Hilgert and their daughter, Joie, of Kansas City, Mo., who will be the house guests of Mrs. Hilgert's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cather Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Hilgert will attend Saturday's game with Mr. and Mrs. Cather, and also will be their guests at the 100 Club dinner dance on Saturday evening.

DID some thumbing through our little red book to see what interesting events were on next week's calendar, and found that Mrs. William Aitken and her daughter, Mrs. J. Taylor Greer, are to be luncheon hostesses next Wednesday when they pay courtesy to Miss Mickey Walt whose marriage to William Seiboldt takes place on Dec. 1, at the home of Mrs. Aitken. The bride-elect will be presented with a gift.

DELVING into the future brought some nice news about Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Reed—it seems that their son-in-law and daughter, Ens. and Mrs. Ted Barger now are stationed in San Diego, but late in November they will go to San Francisco where Ens. Barger will be stationed for at least three months. Dr. and Mrs. Reed plan to spend Christmas in San Francisco with Ens. and Mrs. Barger.

Bride On Wednesday

MRS. PAUL F. BERG

For the wedding of Miss Joan Harrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Harrison, and Paul F. Berg, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Berg of Pleasant Dale, which took place Wednesday evening, Oct. 3, lighted white candles in pedestal holders, and arrangements of white and pink chrysanthemums decorated the chancel of Redeemer Lutheran Church. The Rev. Melvin J. Tassler read the lines of the 8 o'clock service, and the wedding music was played by Miss Rena Olson, organist, who also accompanied Mrs. Ed Schmieding and Jack Hippe, vocal soloists.

The bride's gown of white Chantilly lace and tulle was fashioned in the period mode. Delicate scallops of the lace edged the bateau neckline of the molded bodice of lace, and the sleeves were long and tapered. The lace-over-tulle skirt was very full and was completed at the back by a cascade of tulle and lace tiers which ended in a whisper train. Her illusion veil was held by a cap of lace, and she carried an arrangement of white carnations centered with pink sweetheart roses.

A reception for 250 guests was held in the church parlors, after which the couple left for a Colorado wedding trip. Mrs. Berg wore a black sheath ensemble for traveling.

Mr. and Mrs. Berg, both former students at the University of Nebraska, will reside at Colorado Springs where the bridegroom is stationed with the Army at Camp Carson.

We Hear That

Expected in Lincoln on Friday for an extended visit is Mrs. B. C. Hall of Alameda, Calif., who will be the guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sharrick. Mrs. Hall will be accompanied to Lincoln by her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wade Hall and their daughter, Carol, who will continue on their trip to Washington, D. C., after several days in Lincoln.

THE STAR IN SUBURBIA

Our continental chef has certainly mixed us up a savory concoction of neighborhood news with a bit of foreign flavour for our Eastborough get-together this Thursday morning. We find that our recipe calls for a few guests, a new family member, a morning coffee, a dessert luncheon, a bridge club picnic, and a week-end trip. A visitor from Syria and a dinner a la Italia add a bit of spice to our potpourri of events.

The appetizer for the social menu this week is news of the arrival of Miss Mary Jeanne Schultze who made her premiere appearance at St. Elizabeth hospital the evening of Sept. 27. The proud parents are Mr. and Mrs. George Schultze.

A very welcome houseguest at the Schultze residence is Mrs. Schultze's mother, Mrs. Donovan Ruby of Portland, Ore., who arrived on Sept. 18.

We would also like to extend a welcome to Mrs. Robert Swan who returned last Tuesday from Offutt Air Force hospital.

We spoke last week of the approaching arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Saad from Pontiac, Mich., who will be staying with the Neil Munsons. We have learned that traveling with the Saads will be Mr. Saad's mother, Mrs. Theodore Saad formerly of Aleppo, Syria. Mrs. Saad and her husband arrived in the United States last Thanksgiving, and have now made their home in Wyandotte, Mich.

More news of guests comes from Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ellingson. Mr. Ellingson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Ellingson, and brother, Bert, were visiting in Eastborough last week. They returned to their home in Milwaukee, Wis. on Sept. 23.

Arriving this weekend are Mr. and Mrs. William C. Pflug of York who will be visiting their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ritter.

On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Ritter entertained 14 friends at a dessert luncheon at her home.

The very mention of food reminds us of the Pizza party that Lt. and Mrs. Rodger McKinzie had last Saturday evening. The guest-list included Lt. and Mrs. Allen Dee, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Edee, and Lt. and Mrs. David Turner.

Coffee will be the main attraction at a morning party to be given by Mrs. Edward Wetwiska on Friday.

For something new and different in bridge club news we heard from Mrs. Joseph Ritter that she and the members of her bridge group, Mrs. Richard Connin, Mrs. Robert Hartsock, Mrs. Robert Bridges, Mrs. Edward Marty, Mrs. Robert Longman, Mrs. Donald Rooke, Mrs. Jack Robson, and Mrs. Harry Rust have planned a picnic outing for next Thursday evening and that the party will include husbands and children. Of course after the picnic the ladies plan to retire to their bridge playing, which leaves the male contingency no choice but to return home in the role of baby sitters extraordinary.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Longman are taking a weekend trip to Wichita, Kan., this weekend for a visit with friends, Mr. and Mrs. Longman resided in Wichita before moving to Lincoln.

Cotillion Club Elects

When the members of Cotillion Club held their annual dinner-business meeting on Wednesday evening at the Lincoln Country Club, they named the new officers.

Moving into the presidency from the vice-presidency were Mr. and Mrs. Craig O'Brien, and the new secretary-treasurer combination are Mr. and Mrs. J. Taylor Greer.

GOOD NEWS--AND HAPPY PEOPLE

MORE happy people this morning! The Dodgers--the Means--and while for Dr. and Mrs. Arden Means the Isle of Capri did not materialize yesterday, numerous other things did--for Mrs. Means, at least--When Dr. Means and his wife, the former Pat Wieland of Lincoln, return to Holdrege, Mrs. Means really should have a one-woman fashion show and display all of the apparel she received on the Big Payoff.

But back to town and the happy events here--The Hugh

Williams--Mr. and Mrs. (Mary Jean Neely) and their small son David are back from Japan--and Mr. Williams is just about out of the service. While he is at Camp Chaffee where he will be restored to civilian life, Mrs. Williams and David are the guests of Mrs. Williams' parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. Marshall Neely. We hear, however, that Mr. Williams plans to be back in Omaha where the family will reside, next Tuesday and that he will be joined there by Mrs. Neely and David.

JUST learned that next Tuesday is moving day for Mr. and Mrs. James Nicola and their family whose new address will be 3136 So. Vine in Denver, Colo. There have been numerous farewell courtesies for Mr. and Mrs. Nicola during the past several weeks, and this week-end the family will be in York for a family party.

SPEAKING of parties--it was a fun affair that Mr. and Mrs. Vance Traphagen and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Yates of Wilmette, Ill., gave on Monday when they entertained at an "after-five" party in post-nuptial courtesy to Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hall of Omaha. Mrs. Hall, just to refresh your memory, was Miss Kay Kinsey before her marriage on Sept. 21.

ARRIVING this week-end for a Friday-to-Sunday stay will be Mr. and Mrs. Clive Hilgert and their daughter, Joie, of Kansas City, Mo., who will be the house guests of Mrs. Hilgert's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cather Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Hilgert will attend Saturday's game with Mr. and Mrs. Cather, and also will be their guests at the 100 Club dinner dance on Saturday evening.

DID some thumbing through our little red book to see what interesting events were on next week's calendar, and found that Mrs. William Aitken and her daughter, Mrs. J. Taylor Greer, are to be luncheon hostesses next Wednesday when they pay courtesy to Miss Mickey Walt whose marriage to William Sciboldt takes place on Dec. 1, at the home of Mrs. Aitken. The bride-elect will be presented with a gift.

DELVING into the future brought some nice news about Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Reed--It seems that their son-in-law and daughter, Ens. and Mrs. Ted Barger now are stationed in San Diego, but late in November they will go to San Francisco where Ens. Barger will be stationed for at least three months. Dr. and Mrs. Reed plan to spend Christmas in San Francisco with Ens. and Mrs. Barger.

PTA's Plan Activities

The executive board members of HOLMES PTA will meet at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening in the school library. Mrs. Virgil Moreland, president, has asked that all committee chairmen bring a list of committee members for the roster.

HAWTHORNE PTA currently is sponsoring a series of informal, get-acquainted coffees at the school. The series is being held at 7:30 o'clock in the evenings, and all fathers are welcome.

The schedule is as follows: Oct. 5, 4th grade parents; Oct. 9, kindergarten parents; Oct. 11, 1st grade parents; Oct. 16, 5th grade parents; Oct. 18, 2nd grade parents; Oct. 23, 3rd grade parents; and Oct. 30, 6th grade parents.

The parents' group of MEADOW LANE SCHOOL met Tuesday evening following an open house at the school and made plans for joining the Lincoln PTA organization.

Temporary chairman, Mrs. Jerry Donahue presided at the meeting at which the following officers were elected: Capt. and Mrs. Robert Bennett, co-presidents; Capt. and Mrs. C. S. Jackson, vice president; Mrs. Marvin Kelle, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. A. C. Land, corresponding secretary; Mrs. G. E. Robinson, publicity; and Mrs. E. J. Marty, hospitality.

THE STAR IN SUBURBIA

bit of spice to our potpourri of events.

The appetizer for the social menu this week is news of the arrival of Miss Mary Jeanne Schultze who made her premiere appearance at St. Elizabeth hospital the evening of Sept. 27. The proud parents are Mr. and Mrs. George Schultze.

A very welcome houseguest at the Schultze residence is Mrs. Schultze's mother, Mrs. Donovan Ruby of Portland, Ore., who arrived on Sept. 18.

We would also like to extend a welcome to Mrs. Robert Swan who returned last Tuesday from Offutt Air Force hospital.

We spoke last week of the approaching arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Saad from Pontiac, Mich., who will be staying with the Neil Munsons. We have learned that traveling with the Saads will be Mr. Saad's mother, Mrs. Theodore Saad formerly of Aleppo, Syria, Mrs. Saad and her husband arrived in the United States last Thanksgiving, and have now made their home in Wyandotte, Mich.

More news of guests comes from Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ellingson, Mr. Ellingson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Ellingson, and brother, Bert, were visiting in Eastborough last week. They returned to their home in Milwaukee, Wis. on Sept. 25.

Arriving this weekend are Mr. and Mrs. William C. Pflug of York who will be visiting their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ritter.

On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Ritter entertained 14 friends at a dessert luncheon at her home.

The very mention of food reminds us of the Pizza party that Lt. and Mrs. Roger McKinzie had last Saturday evening. The guest-list included Lt. and Mrs. Allen Dee, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Edee, and Lt. and Mrs. David Turner.

Coffee will be the main attraction at a morning party to be given by Mrs. Edward Welska on Friday.

For something new and different in bridge club news we heard from Mrs. Joseph Ritter that she and the members of her bridge group, Mrs. Richard Connin, Mrs. Robert Hartsock, Mrs. Robert Bridges, Mrs. Edward Marty, Mrs. Robert Longman, Mrs. Donald Rocke, Mrs. Jack Robson, and Mrs. Harry Rust have planned a picnic outing for next Thursday evening and that the party will include husbands and children. Of course after the picnic the ladies plan to retire to their bridge playing, which leaves the male contingency no choice but to return home in the role of baby sitter extraordinary.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Longman are taking a weekend trip to Wichita, Kan., this weekend for a visit with friends. Mr. and Mrs. Longman resided in Wichita before moving to Lincoln.

Cotillion Club Elects

When the members of Cotillion Club held their annual dinner-business meeting on Wednesday evening at the Lincoln Country Club, they named the new officers.

Moving into the presidency from the vice-presidency were Mr. and Mrs. Craig O'Brien, and the new secretary-treasurer combination are Mr. and Mrs. J. Taylor Greer.

Bride On Wednesday

MRS. PAUL F. BERG

For the wedding of Miss Joan Harrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Harrison, and Paul F. Berg, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Berg of Pleasant Dale, which took place Wednesday evening, Oct. 3, lighted white candles in pedestal holders, and arrangements of white and pink chrysanthemums decorated the chancel of Redeemer Lutheran Church. The Rev. Melvin J. Tassler read the lines of the 8 o'clock service, and the wedding music was played by Miss Rena Olson, organist, who also accompanied Mrs. Ed Schmieding and Jack Hippe, vocal soloists.

Wearing identically styled frocks of emerald green iridescent taffeta were Mrs. Dale Ossenkop, as the matron of honor, Miss Mary Martha Rulla of Douglas, the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Mrs. Neil Wurst of Milford, and Mrs. Boyd G. Swarts. A wide frill of Chantilly-type lace formed the portrait necklines and cap sleeves of their snug bodices, and the skirts flared into waltz length. They wore head bandeaux of green velvet trimmed with pearls, and carried white carnations tinged with pink. Mrs. Ed Tichota and Miss Rosellen Bubb lighted the

The bride's gown of white Chantilly lace and tulle was fashioned in the period mode. Delicate scallops of the lace edged the bateau neckline of the molded bodice of lace, and the sleeves were long and tapered. The lace-over-tulle skirt was very full and was completed at the back by a cascade of tulle and lace tiers which ended in a whisper train. Her illusion veil was held by a cap of lace, and she carried an arrangement of white carnations centered with pink sweetheart roses.

A reception for 250 guests was held in the church parlors, after which the couple left for a Colorado wedding trip. Mrs. Berg wore a black sheath ensemble for traveling.

Mr. and Mrs. Berg, both former students at the University of Nebraska, will reside at Colorado Springs where the bridegroom is stationed with the Army at Camp Carson.

We Hear That

Expected in Lincoln on Friday for an extended visit is Mrs. B. C. Hall of Alameda, Calif., who will be the guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sharrick. Mrs. Hall will be accompanied to Lincoln by her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wade Hall and their daughter, Carol, who will continue on their trip to Washington, D. C., after several days in Lincoln.

Shepilov Decries 'Hotheaded' Projects

Soviet Foreign Minister Criticizes Current Plans

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov spoke out Wednesday against any attempt to settle the Suez Canal crisis through "hot-headed and impractical projects."

He said in a statement on his arrival from Moscow that he is convinced instead a reasonable solution can be found. Shepilov is here for U.N. Security Council debates on the Suez control question, beginning Friday.

In his comment, Shepilov appeared to oppose a resolution being written by Britain and France. Hoping for U.S. support in the Council, they are drawing up a resolution endorsing the plan approved by 18 nations in London in mid-August. It calls for an international board linked with the U.N. to operate the canal—a project rejected by Shepilov and by President Nasser of Egypt.

No Names
Without naming any countries but obviously referring to British-French plans, Shepilov said attempts still are being made to settle the Suez problem "from positions of strength."

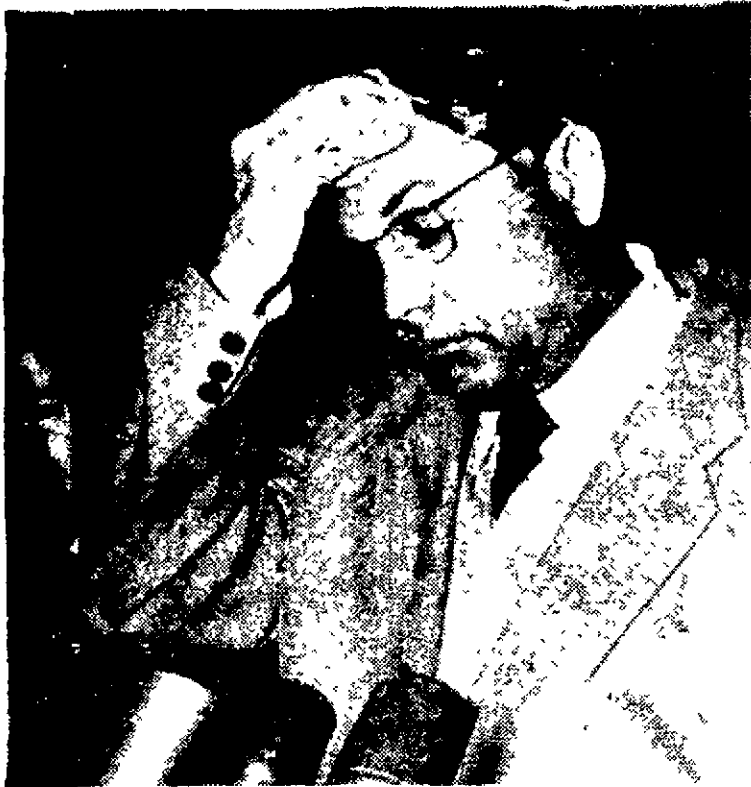

"These attempts are caused by lack of understanding of the spirit of our times and of the renovation of the forms of social life that is in progress throughout the vast expanse of the East," he said. Shepilov was the most vocal of the foreign ministers arriving Wednesday.

Egypt's foreign minister, Mahmoud Fawzi, said only that Egypt would do her best to make the Council meeting a success. He is not a member of the Council but was invited to take part in the debate. One of the items before the Council is a complaint by Egypt that actions against her by France and Britain threatened peace and violated the U.N. Charter.

Britain and France have put before the Council a complaint against Egypt's action in seizing the canal last July 26. Selwyn Lloyd, British foreign secretary, had little to say publicly about the British-French case as he went to an hour's closed-door huddle with U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld.

Washington has been cool to the British and French moves to seek Council endorsement of the proposal already rejected by the Soviet Union and Egypt.

Diplomatic observers indicated the United States is interested in a plan being considered by Iran's delegate, Djafar Abdol, for having the Council create some sort of negotiating machinery to work out a settlement.

U.S. Chief delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. was host Wednesday night at a dinner for Lloyd, where they planned to discuss the coming debates. French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau was also to have been a guest, but his plane was diverted to Bermuda on a trip from Caracas, Venezuela, because of engine trouble.

Chadron Airport Runways Readied

CHADRON, Neb. (AP) — The runways at Chadron's municipal airport should be ready by Oct. 8 for the landing of light weight craft, City Manager Ken Kyle said Wednesday.

"Lightweight" means that anything smaller than a DC-3.

Perry Pollard, local agent for Western Airlines, has arrived in Chadron and was to begin selling tickets and taking reservations as of Wednesday.

However, commercial passenger service will not begin until Oct. 14.

The runways at the airport have been completely resurfaced and a wider concrete turn-around apron has been provided.

Iowa Pilot And Photographer Die In Plane Mishap

WALKER, Iowa (AP) — A commercial aerial photographer and his pilot were killed Wednesday afternoon in the crash of a plane in a cornfield southwest of here.

Killed were Robert Bachman, 35, of Ankeny, owner of the Midwest Aerial Photo Co., and Ray Ingels, 36, a pilot for Waltham Flying Service of Cedar Rapids.

Bachman was making aerial photographs of farms in this northwest Linn County area when the plane crashed on the Charles Gilchrist farm.

Farm families living in the area reported hearing the plane flying low over their houses shortly before the crash.

Mrs. Ned White, who lives near the Gilchrist farm, said the plane "suddenly took a nose dive" and plunged into the field.

Maglie Returns From Junkyard In Stellar Fashion; Cuffs Yanks

Sal Maglie, the Brooklyn Dodgers' old pitching master, just keeps plugging along as he winds up and delivers in the sixth inning of the first World Series game in Ebbets Field Wednesday. Greenlaw With No. 1 Unit; Husker Fresh Game Set Today

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

Pete Elliott sent his Nebraska Cornhuskers through some offensive and defensive scrimmage Wednesday afternoon, and for the first time this season Willie Greenlaw worked with the No. 1 unit.

Greenlaw, who has been slow rounding into top form after an ankle sprain, got his shot at the first right half job when Sophomore Larry Naviaux was held out of the rough stuff.

Naviaux is resting a charley horse and will miss scrimmage work this week, but he's expected to be ready for the Iowa State Cyclones Saturday at Memorial Stadium.

Left Guard LaVerne Torczon was the only line absentee on the first club. He took part in all of the drills except the scrimmage, skipping the latter to allow more time

Etiquette Had President Flustered When Mickey Blasted 1st Home Run

EBBETS FIELD (INS) — Gov. Averell Harriman, who calls Ike harsh names in public, shook hands with the President as he entered. The warmth of their greeting might best be described by reporting that immediately after the handshake Ike put on his topcoat.

When the president's favorite ball player, Mickey Mantle, belted one out of sight in the first inning, the blast raised a sticky problem of ballpark etiquette which not even John Foster Dulles (who sat in Ike's box) could solve.

Should the President get up and yell? If he did so, wouldn't that be an affront of some sort to his host, Walter O'Malley, president of the Dodgers, who slumped in sorrow beside him?

Ike solved matters by waiting until Mantle was loping from third to home. He clapped his hands.

The president was able to get rid of the suppressed yell an inning later when Jackie Robinson belted one into the lower seats in left.

The most crowded box in Ebbets Field was that which housed Jackie Gleason and Toots Shor. The Fats began eating in the first inning and there was a shortage of food in the park by the sixth.

O'Malley will equip the box with a trough for today's game, or arrange for a guy from the zoo to drop by with a pitchfork of raw meat every once in a while and chuck it in.

The first boo of the 1956 series was awarded by the fans to the official scorers — Lyle Smith of the Detroit Free Press, Gus Steiger of the New York Mirror and Jerry

Old Sal Fans 10 Enroute To First Series Victory

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK (INS) — Old Sal Maglie, condemned to baseball's junkyard by the Giants and Indians, pitched a glory-be World Series game Wednesday in front of the President of the United States, and his Dodgers beat the Yankees, 6 to 3.

The man who once had to jump to the Mexican League to make enough money to support a family hung a crepe on the celebrated Yankee powerhouse by striking out 10 men. It was the first World Series victory for the 39-year-old blackjowed righthander. His life can hardly hold promise of any greater summit of self-satisfaction.

The underdog Dodgers, who gave Sal his reprieve, fell upon Yankee Pitcher Whitey Ford and drove him away in three innings with such feats of strength as Jackie Robinson's home run in the second and Gil Hodges' homer in the third with two men on base.

Thereafter, Yankee Pitchers Johnny Kucks, Tom Morgan and Bob Turley toiled manfully and compositely held the Dodgers to one hit from the fifth onward.

But it was a case of locking the door at Fort Knox after the gold there sank through the crust of the earth by sheer weight.

Old Sal was never sharper. He'd glare out from under his cap like a bad 'un in a Western, fix his black eyes on the hitter and give him fits with stuff that spit and crackled as it shot over the plate.

He gave up nine hits in all, three of them to Country Slaughter, who is even older. But after the fourth he was never in danger of being deprived of his finest hour.

Old Sal pitched as if angry with all mankind. The Yankees became symbols of all his past frustrations and humiliations. The anger buoyed his strength as the golden afternoon waned. He was never stronger, it seemed, than when he ended the game by compelling Mickey Mantle to roll into a double play.

Earlier in the day, Mantle had attacked Old Sal with a ferocious first inning home run far, far, far over the right field wall and deep into the parked cars in a lot across Bedford Avenue. Slaughter, as usual, was on base at the time with the first of his three nice singles. So the Yankees led 2-0 with the President, a study in autumnal brown, hardly settled in his chair.

Jarred by this terrific clip, Mantle's sixth World Series homer, Old Sal walked Yogi Berra. The panic was on, but not in Old Sal's heart, it developed. He struck out Moose Skowron and Gil McDougald, two of the Yankees' .300 plus hitters as if they were Little Leaguers.

Maglie struck out two-thirds of the Yankee batting order when Hank Bauer led off with a single to left and Slaughter singled to the same patch of grass. That brought up Mantle, who had committed felonious assault on one of Old Sal's patented sliders in the first.

The only real affront to the old Gentleman after that was frisky Billy Martin's home run into the left field people in the fourth. But by that time, Maglie's Dodger teammates had smashed in enough runs to sustain Old Sal for weeks.

This was the day the 1957 Ford came out. The 1956 Ford, Whitey, came out too — after the third inning. He did not come out of his own will. He was pushed.

Jackie Robinson, professional, started Ford's downfall in the second by leading off with a home run into left. The President seemed to be the first of the 34,479 fans on hand to leap to his feet and holler approval of the blast that shaved the Yankee lead to 2-1.

Mr. Eisenhower had been too polite to cheer very enthusiastically.

O'Malley Hurts Back In Fall

BROOKLYN (P) — Walter O'Malley, president of the world champion Dodgers, injured his back Wednesday night when he slipped and fell in the Brooklyn hotel housing the baseball club's World Series press headquarters.

O'Malley, about 62, was taken to Long Island College Hospital for examination.

An X-ray examination showed that O'Malley was not injured seriously and he left the hospital shortly afterward for the hotel.

Oddsmakers Say Yanks

BROOKLYN (P) — Although beaten in the first game, the Yankees still remain the favorite to win the World Series.

Bookmakers Wednesday night quoted the Yanks at 6 to 5. It's 10-1 the Yanks will win the next four and the same odds that the Dodgers will win the series in four games.

For Thursday's second game, it's 11-10 and take your pick.

OLDTIMERS SAL, ENOS SPARKLE IN OPENER

Phil Rizzuto, former ace Yankee shortstop who appeared in nine World Series, herewith presents his own analysis of Wednesday's World Series opener between the Dodgers and Yankees.)

By PHIL RIZZUTO
Copyright, 1956, by International News Service

NEW YORK (INS)—This looked like Oldtimers' Day at Ebbets Field.

Sal Maglie was the big story, of course, and the only guy in the ball park older than Sal. Enos Slaughter, came through with three hits for the Yankees.

Maglie was really sharp. It looked to me as though the Yankees might get him out of there in the first inning. But then he got his curve and his slider working, and he was just perfect the way he pitched to the Yankee weak-nesses.

His ten strikeouts showed that, of course.

What hurt the Yankees particularly was that the fourth, fifth and sixth hitters—Yogi Berra, Bill Skowron and Gil McDougald—didn't get a hit among them. Gil struck out three times, and that is very unusual for him.

The Dodgers still are pitching Yogi outside, just as they did last year, and they're still making it pay off. He can't pull those outside pitches, and he has to hit to left.

It wasn't surprising that Whitey Ford ran into trouble. As everyone knows, the Dodgers are tough on lefthanders at Ebbets Field. Casey Stengel knew that, of course, but he didn't have much choice.

But Whitey's his best pitcher, and if he was held off until the third game, he could only have pitched once. This way, he'll be back for his Stadium shot, so it just has to go down as a gamble that didn't pay off.

Thursday may be a different story. Most of the Yankees are fast ball hitters, and that is Don Newcombe's bread-and-butter pitch. The Yanks may tee off on him, as they have in previous series.

On the other hand, I look for Don Larsen to give Casey a good game. If you noticed, Bob Turley—when he put the Dodgers down in order in the eighth and fanned two men—was pitching without a windup.

Larsen has been pitching the same way recently, and it has been very effective for both of them. Even Ted Williams mentioned that he had trouble hitting Larsen with his new motion.

Bobo Olson's Comeback Stopped By Retirement

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The manager of Carl "Bobo" Olson Wednesday cancelled the former world middleweight champion's scheduled comeback bout Thursday night and announced Olson will never fight again.

"I've known Olson hasn't been right since he's been here. After his disappointing workout Tuesday, I was convinced he should not try a comeback," Manager Sid Flaherty of San Francisco said.

Olson, who has put on weight since being dethroned by Sugar Ray Robinson, had announced plans earlier to come back as a heavyweight. He was scheduled for a main-event, 10-round bout here against Sammy Walker Thursday night. He said his weight was about 170.

Fair To Bobo

"We regret to pull out of the Portland fight, but there is no other honorable course. I must be fair to him because he has been a great fighter and has been in many great fights. I must also be fair to the fight public," Flaherty said.

The manager said Olson did not look good in workouts the last two nights, and that after consulting with doctors Wednesday, he decided to announce Olson's retirement.

Olson's downfall began last year when, after ruling the middleweight ranks for two years, he moved up to challenge Archie Moore for the light-heavy crown. He was knocked out in the third round.

Comeback Fails

Olson, involved in domestic troubles by then, won two warmup bouts thereafter, but lost his middleweight crown to Robinson last December. Robinson, climaxing a comeback, knocked him out in the second round. Robinson later repeated the knockout in a Los Angeles bout.

Olson, who is 28, began fighting in 1945. After Robinson's retirement, Olson won the American middleweight title by outpointing Paddy Young in June, 1953, and won the world crown by outpointing Randy Turpin in October, 1953.

Promoter Tommy Moyer did not attempt to find a substitute bout. He canceled the card here, and said ticket refunds would be made.

Kenny Lane Suspended

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Louisiana State Athletic Commission said Wednesday night Kenny Lane, fifth-ranked lightweight contender from Muskegon, Mich., had been placed on tentative suspension for failure to meet Ralph Dupas of New Orleans.

Lane and Dupas were to have met in a 10-round match here next Monday. But Emile Bruneau, secretary of the state athletic commission, said Lane's manager, Pete Petrosky, pulled out of the match claiming Lane could not prepare properly for the match.

Promoter Heard Ragas said Petrosky signed the agreement to meet Dupas after Lane decided the New Orleans stylist in a 10-round here last May.

Milwaukee Sports Promoter Dies

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Frank Mulken, 60, colorful sports promoter once known as Milwaukee's "Millionaire Newsboy," died Wednesday at St. Joseph's Hospital. He suffered a heart attack 10 days ago.

Mulken acquired the nickname while operating several newsstands in the heart of the downtown district and using one as an office for promoting fights and managing boxers. A protégé of his was the late Ad Wolgast, once world lightweight champion.

He branched out extensively into other lines of business — real estate and the city's first auto livery and metered taxicabs, became a partner and stockholder with Otto Borchert in the old Milwaukee Brewers baseball club of the American Assn. and once staged a bullfight in the Milwaukee Auditorium. He gave up his National Boxing Club, one of the nation's most successful, about 25 years ago.

Lane and Dupas were to have met in a 10-round match here next Monday. But Emile Bruneau, secretary of the state athletic commission, said Lane's manager, Pete Petrosky, pulled out of the match claiming Lane could not prepare properly for the match.

Pact KOed By Olympic Committee

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — The executive board of International Olympic Committee unanimously decided Wednesday night to suspend the controversial anti-professional pledge for the Melbourne Olympic Games.

The board had been convened in emergency session by IOC President Avery Brundage to consider worldwide protests against the pledge, which would have required each Olympic athlete to declare his intention to remain an amateur.

After a three-hour discussion behind closed doors, the board reached full agreement on suspending this part of the pledge. But it declared it was up to the Olympic Committee of each nation to prevent what it referred to as "professional abuse of the Olympic Games."

The board's decision meant that the pledge used at Melbourne will be the same as that in effect during the 1952 games at Helsinki. It requires every athlete to sign the following statement: "I, the undersigned, declare on my honor that I am an amateur and fulfill the conditions stipulated by the Olympic rules."

The board said its action was motivated by insufficient notice of the new pledge, which first appeared in the Olympic rules published in July.

Hal Connolly Tops Hammer Throw Mark

BOSTON (AP) — Hal Connolly of the Boston A. A. bettered the world record for the hammer throw Wednesday with a tremendous toss of 218 feet, 10 1/2 inches in a special event sanctioned by the New England AAU at Boston University Field.

Connolly's heave on his sixth and final throw surpassed the world mark of 217 feet, 9 1/2 inches set by Russia's Mikhail Krivonozov last July.

Connolly, a withered-arm Boston College graduate who became the first American to better 200 feet with the 16-pound hammer earlier this year, had five throws over 215 feet and one of 210 1/2 feet Wednesday.

After his 210-1/2 foot toss, he reached 214-11, then 216-5 1/2, and 216-6 1/2 before his record-smashing heave.

Farrell Next Tribe Boss?

NEW YORK (AP) — Kerby Farrell, manager of the Indianapolis Indians of the American Assn., will be the next manager of the Cleveland Indians, The Associated Press learned Wednesday night.

A member of Cleveland's official family said Farrell will be named Al Lopez' successor during the World Series or shortly after. Lopez resigned last week.

Farrell has managed Indianapolis for several years and this year guided the Indians to the Assn. playoff championship and the little World Series title, in which they defeated Rochester of the International League in four straight games.

Tighe Indicated As New Tiger Pilot

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Tighe, 42, member of the Detroit organization since 1936, has the inside track as the new manager of the Tigers, a member of the Detroit front office indicated Wednesday night.

"We haven't talked to anyone yet but I would say that Tighe is very well thought of," said Farm Director John McHale. "He has been in the organization a long time and served well."

Tighe was a coach under Bucky Harris, who resigned recently and Wednesday was named assistant to General Manager Joe Cronin of the Boston Red Sox.

McHale's statement apparently squashed reports that Al Lopez, who resigned as manager of the Cleveland Indians last week, would be named as Harris' successor.

"I would not think that Lopez is under consideration," McHale said.

LONDON (AP)—Ezzard Charles had $560 withheld from his purse Wednesday by British boxing officials for his part in a fight fiasco Tuesday night.

The former world champion from Cincinnati was disqualified for holding in the second round of a fight with Welshman Dick Richardson after Referee Frank Wilson cautioned him a half-dozen times.

The packed house of 11,000 fans booed the referee for stopping the fight, then booed both fighters. London papers Wednesday were calling the fiasco the worst in a British ring in years.

However, it is only one of a long series of disputed endings to British fights, a series which included fights between Lee Oma and Brucke Woodcock, Randy Turpin and Walter Cartier, James Park and the South African giant, Ewart Potgieter, and between Kid Gavilan and Peter Waterman.

"We haven't talked to anyone yet but I would say that Tighe is very well thought of," said Farm Director John McHale. "He has been in the organization a long time and served well."

Tighe was a coach under Bucky Harris, who resigned recently and Wednesday was named assistant to General Manager Joe Cronin of the Boston Red Sox.

McHale's statement apparently squashed reports that Al Lopez, who resigned as manager of the Cleveland Indians last week, would be named as Harris' successor.

"I would not think that Lopez is under consideration," McHale said.

Pressure On Arcadia
When Foes Near Goal

By RON GIBSON
Star Sports Staff Writer

One of the more remarkable records among Nebraska high school football teams is the one being made by Arcadia and Coach Glenn Vannier.

Arcadia's football team, aptly nicknamed the Huskies, have not been scored upon in 11 straight games. The string includes the entire 1955 season (eight games) and three games this year.

Arcadia, currently fifth in The Star's Class C football ratings, was sixth with an 8-0 record last year. All eight of those wins were shutouts and the closest margin of victory was over Sargent, 7-0.

The last team to score on the Huskies was Burwell in the final game of the 1954 season. Arcadia won, 21-14. The Huskies won three games prior to that, and so have a 15-game win streak in addition to their 11-game string of shutouts.

the fine record to "lots of hustle on the part of the kids."

"The team spirit is wonderful. All the boys are good trainers," Vannier says.

Vannier admitted the team was well aware of its string of scoreless games.

"The kids are conscious of it," he said. "When the opposition gets close to our goal, we put the pressure on."

Another factor is that the Huskies haven't run into an outstanding passer during their streak.

Most of Arcadia's opponents use a split-T offense but the Huskies face some teams which use the single wing. Arcadia uses the split-T and the popular "belly series."

"We do use a seven-man line often," Vannier points out.

Vannier, who has no assistants and handles the offensive, defensive, line and backfield teaching assignments alone, was mildly surprised at the early 1956 success of his team.

Arcadia has skinned Taylor (20-0), Merna (33-0), and Sargent (20-0) this year. Vannier didn't expect his 1956 team to be as good as the 1955 Huskie crew, but now he has changed his mind.

"I think now that this team is as good as last year's team," he says. "We don't have as much depth but there is more speed in the backfield."

Last year Arcadia's ace back was Bill Tuning, who made The Sunday Journal and Star's Class C All-State team. He is now out for freshman football at the University of Nebraska.

This year, the stars are Jim Mettenbrink, a fine center; end Dick Bossen and quarterback Reed Pedrick. All are seniors. Pedrick calls the defensive signals — that is, he designates what type of defense (6-3, 5-4, 7-2, etc.) will be used on each play.

If the Huskies get by Comstock, Callaway and Litchfield — their next three opponents — they face a stern test in Scotia. Scotia is unbeaten and unscored on in three games.

This game should settle Loup Valley Conference honors. It could be that Scotia and Arcadia will go into the game unbeaten, untied and unscored upon. Should that be the case, something's gotta give. That is, unless they battle to a scoreless tie.

NBA Names
Basilio Boxer
Of The Month

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The National Boxing Assn. Wednesday designated world welterweight champion Carmen Basilio as the Boxer of the Month.

Johnny Saxton, dethroned by Basilio Sept. 12 at Syracuse, N. Y., in a ninth-round technical knockout, was dropped into the No. 2 spot below ex-champion Tony DeMarco of Boston, Mass., on the NBA's list of leading welterweight contenders.

Light — heavyweight champion Archie Moore was ranked as the No. 1 contender for the world heavyweight crown, declared vacant upon the retirement of Rocky Marciano. Floyd Patterson and Tommy Jackson were rated No. 2 and No. 3 behind Moore.

The NBA announced it plans to issue ring ratings monthly hereafter and choose a fighter of the month.

Road Tonight

Gridders from Pius X High School will get a chance to get a head start in this week's Capitol City prep action when they journey to David City St. Mary's tonight.

The still unnamed team has racked up three consecutive wins thus far in the campaign to top the local prep clubs and will be after win number four when they invade the St. Mary's eleven.

David City is a new game on the Pius (formerly Lincoln Cathedral) schedule, having just moved over to eleven man ball this year after topping the Star's six-man ratings a year ago. But the men from David City should furnish some stiff competition for the Pius X crew as they have their entire '55 starting unit back plus plenty of rugged material.

Kickoff time is set for 8 p.m.

Alert Prep Defender Star
Football Player Of Week

By RON GIBSON
Star Sports Staff Writer

Ray Rehmeier of Creighton Prep is the Star's football player of the week.

It was Rehmeier who made an Omaha Tech stratagem backfire last week as Prep beat Tech 15-13 on a safety in the second period.

Prep, unbeaten in the Intercity League play since 1932, needed the victory to stay at the head of the pack this season.

Prep had the Trojans bottled up in their own territory in the second period. Tech had the ball on the two-yard line and, expecting Prep to concentrate on the middle of the line, tried an end sweep.

Ray Moore ran wide and might have got free except for Rehmeier, the one Prep player who wasn't fooled by the end run. Rehmeier stopped Moore behind the goal for the safety which won the game.

Rehmeier will receive a "Football Player of The Week" card, as will the following standouts in last week's games:

Mike Iseman, Fremont—Guiding light as Fremont wallowed Northeast.

Ken Schilling, West Point—Sparkplug as West Point zoomed to top of Class C ratings.

Larry Barnhart, Holbrook—Dazzling runs of 20, 30 and 70 yards for touchdowns made him star in loss to Bartley.

John Musick, Cambridge—Fullback led way as Cambridge blanked Oxford to get back on the win trail.

Tom Williams, Cozad—End switched to quarterback in emergency, threw touchdown pass as Cozad beat Curtis.

Ray Mathes, Central City—Center led Central City in 41-13 romp over Ravens.

Jeffrey Jeffries, St. Paul—Guard was standout as team whitewashed Osceola.

Jim Slominski and Larry Janda, Loup City—Passing combination clicked in final minute as Loup City got by tough Gibbon.

Keith Kearney, Kearney—130-pound back was spotted 38 yards with opening kickoff and halfback never recovered.

Jerome Eckhout, Amherst—Four touchdowns paved way as Amherst belted Loomis in important Fort Kearney Conference game.

Scott Richards, Harrison—Scored four times as team ended two-year losing streak.

Bill Nelson, Scottsbluff—Former star athlete from Brady threw winning touchdown pass to John Williamson in final minute to give team win over Sidney.

Jim Krantz, Bayard—Belted 21-yard field goal, scored only touchdown and kicked PAT from 30 yards out as Bayard beat Gering 10-0.

Schneider, Humphrey—Scored on runs of 75, 65, 45, 20 and three yards to maintain 20-point per game scoring pace.

Merle Paulsen, Blair—Scored all of team's points in 22-27 win over Oakdale.

Dick George and Jim Boyer, Chester—George-to-Boyer touchdown pass in last two minutes changed defeat into victory over Alexandria.

Don Pitt, Northeast—Quarterback sparked improved Rockets against Fremont.

Russian, U.S.-Born Daughter Sail Despite Pursuit By American Officials

NEW YORK (AP)—A Russian refugee and his little American-born daughter sailed on the Queen Mary Wednesday for the Soviet Union, despite a hide-and-seek pursuit by U.S. immigration men.

Authorities said the father, Alexis Chwastov, 58, may have been coerced into returning to Russia by Soviet officials here. His 92-year-old mother was said to be still in Russia.

Immigration officials were especially concerned over the fate of Chwastov's daughter, Tanya, 21. Born in Philadelphia, she is regarded as an American citizen by birth.

Gave Up Hunt

However, the searchers rode as far as quarantine with the ship before they gave up the hunt and returned to New York.

Aboard the liner also was Fedor Solomatine, chief counsel to the Russian Embassy in Washington. He protested to immigration officials.

In accordance with our law, the child is a Soviet citizen. It's a case of dual citizenship, that should be decided by the courts and not by any last-minute action by the American government to come to the pier and attempt to take this child away."

Wed American

Elliott said his organization sponsored Chwastov when he came here in 1951 as a stateless displaced person. The service got him a job in the Philadelphia area. There he married an American woman who is Tanya's mother. She was said to have left him later.

Elliott said of Chwastov: "He was full of fear over the possibilities of reprisals against his mother, if he fails to return to Russia, and also over the possibilities of reprisals from other Russians here, if he stays, for having gone as far as he did."

The church worker said Chwastov's mother recently wrote urging his return. This was followed, he added, by an offer from the Soviet Embassy in this country to pay the Chwastovs' passage.

The father and daughter boarded the Queen Mary at 2:30 p.m. However, they vanished from their cabin before immigration men arrived. Solomatine admitted the Chwastovs were aboard but said he didn't know where.

Lincolmites To Participate In 'Dollars For Democrats Day' On October 16

Lancaster County Democrats will join in "the biggest fund-raising campaign in political history" on "Dollars For Democrats Day" Oct. 16, A. Clifford Anderson, Democratic County chairman, said Wednesday.

"Dollars for Democrats Day" is a nationwide drive to raise television and radio funds for Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver, Democratic candidates for president and vice president.

The national drive is headed by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt with "Joe Smith" chairman. He is Joseph Edward Smith, former mayor of Oakland, Calif., and a prominent Oakland attorney.

His appointment as honorary chairman recalls the effort of Terry Carpenter, a Nebraska delegate to the Republican national convention to open vice presidential nominations to the delegates. This political fund drive will be concentrated in one day, during which Democrats will ring every doorbell in the United States to raise money to keep Stevenson and Kefauver on television and radio, Anderson said.

"Our opponents can call on big business for big contributions," Anderson said. "In the democratic way, we are calling on the Joe Smiths of the nation to support democracy with contributions of $1 and $5."

A national poll showed us that the Joe Smiths have more than $85 million to spend for democracy if they are asked for it," Anderson said, "and that's what we will be doing on 'Dollars for Democrats Day'."

Science Develops New Tablet:

Relieves Painful Monthly Cramps For 3 out of 4 Women Tested! Gives Greater Relief Than Aspirin!

Boston, Mass. (Special)—New promise of relief for women who suffer from monthly cramps and nervous tension is found in an amazing new tablet... developed especially to relieve this female discomfort. It offers greater relief than aspirin during that distressing period each month!

Doctors report remarkable results. For 3 out of 4 women tested, pain and cramps were stopped or strikingly relieved. Even on the first day, many had no nagging headaches, no backaches or other functionally-caused distress... were also less jittery the trying week before their period!

The new tablet contains not just one or two ingredients but a unique combination of special medicines. That's why this new discovery offers more relief than plain aspirin! Unlike such "general-purpose" remedies, it acts on the cause of distress: it's amazing power to calm uterine contractions, also works through a woman's sympathetic nervous system. Called "Lydia Pinkham's Tablets," the formula was developed by the world's largest manufacturer devoted exclusively to relief of women's ailments! Easy-to-take new Pinkham's Tablets are now available at all drug stores without a prescription.

Russian, U.S.-Born Daughter Sail Despite Pursuit By American Officials

NEW YORK (AP) — A Russian refugee and his little American-born daughter sailed on the Queen Mary Wednesday for the Soviet Union, despite a hide-and-seek pursuit by U.S. immigration men.

Authorities said the father, Alexis Chwastov, 58, may have been coerced into returning to Russia by Soviet officials here. His 92-year-old mother was said to be still in Russia.

Immigration officials were especially concerned over the fate of Chwastov's daughter, Tanya, 2½. Born in Philadelphia, she is regarded as an American citizen by birth.

Gave Up Hunt

However, the searchers rode as far as quarantine with the ship before they gave up the hunt and returned to New York.

Aboard the liner also was Fedor Solomatin, chief counsel to the Russian Embassy in Washington. He protested to immigration officials.

"In accordance with our law, the child is a Soviet citizen. If it's a case of dual citizenship, that should be decided by the courts and not by any last-minute action by the American government to come to the pier and attempt to take this child away."

Wed American

Elliott said his organization sponsored Chwastov when he came here in 1951 as a stateless displaced person. The service got him a job in the Philadelphia area. There he married an American woman who is Tanya's mother. She was said to have left him later.

Elliott said of Chwastov:

"He was full of fear over the possibilities of reprisals against his mother, if he fails to return to Russia, and also over the possibilities of reprisals from other Russians here, if he stays, for having gone as far as he did."

The church worker said Chwastov's mother recently wrote urging his return. This was followed, he added, by an offer from the Soviet Embassy in this country to pay the Chwastovs' passage.

The father and daughter boarded the Queen Mary at 2:30 p.m. However, they vanished from their cabin before immigration men arrived. Solomatin admitted the Chwastovs were aboard but said he didn't know where.

Lincolnites To Participate In 'Dollars For Democrats Day' On October 16

Lancaster County Democrats will join in "the biggest fund-raising campaign in political history" on "Dollars For Democrats Day" Oct. 16. A. Clifford Anderson, Democratic County chairman, said Wednesday.

"Dollars for Democrats Day" is a nationwide drive to raise television and radio funds for Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver, Democratic candidates for president and vice president.

The national drive is headed by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt with "Joe Smith" chairman. He is Joseph Edward Smith, former mayor of Oakland, Calif., and a prominent Oakland attorney.

His appointment as honorary chairman recalls the effort of Terry Carpenter, a Nebraska delegate to the Republican national convention to open vice presidential nominations to the delegates. This political fund drive will be concentrated in one day, during which Democrats will ring every doorbell in the United States to raise money to keep Stevenson and Kefauver on television and radio, Anderson said.

"Our opponents can call on big business for big contributions," Anderson said. "In the democratic way, we are calling on the Joe Smiths of the nation to support democracy with contributions of $1 and $5."

"A national poll showed us that the Joe Smiths have more than $85 million to spend for democracy if they are asked for it," Anderson said, "and that's what we will be doing on 'Dollars for Democrats Day.'"

Dewey 'Outraged' By 'Disgraceful' Attacks On Ike

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey appealed to a nationwide television-radio audience Wednesday night to be "as outraged as I am by the disgraceful attacks that have been made on the President" by Adlai Stevenson.

Dewey, himself a two-time loser in presidential campaigns, took the air to defend Eisenhower against numerous statements made recently by the Democratic presidential candidate.

Dewey called Stevenson "ill-informed, impulsive," "mediocre," a little man who makes "wild charges" and indulges in "fatuous" hopes and is "not even in the same league with President Eisenhower."

Dewey called Eisenhower "the strongest, finest leader we have ever had" and "the greatest leader of our time."

'Low Blows'
"Frankly I am getting disgusted by the low blows that are being thrown at the President," Dewey said in his prepared speech over the American Broadcasting Co. radio and television networks.

Dewey told his audience that "four years ago you and I asked Gen. Eisenhower to come home and clean up the mess in Washington."

"He accepted our call and has done a wonderful job," Dewey said. "So what is his reward? The opposition candidates are going up and down the country throwing insults at the President and his administration and, just lately, even at his family."

'Drive!'
"I think you will agree that the President deserves better treatment. We have heard enough of this drive!"

Dewey called it a "low blow" when Stevenson said "a member of the President's personal family assumed special, if informal responsibility for our relationship with Argentina."

Dewey called this "a personal attack on the President's brother," adding:

"Dr. Milton Eisenhower was never in charge of our relationships with Argentina, directly or indirectly."

Saying that "one act of weakness, one act based on misinformation, could plunge this tense world into another war," Dewey added:

"In these troubled times we don't dare risk an ill-informed, impulsive man in the White House. And we can't risk a man who is so frantic for office that he will say anything or do anything to get there."

Abundant Supply Of Cattle This Fall—Peterson

A University of Nebraska economist Wednesday predicted an abundant supply of stocker and feeder cattle this fall.

Dr. Everett Peterson, extension economist at the University's College of Agriculture, advised feeders buying replacement cattle to watch for periods of heavy runs in the next six to eight weeks when cattle from the dry ranges of Montana, Texas and Colorado go on sale.

Meanwhile, an upswing in the fat cattle market has renewed interest of feeders who buy cattle for fattening. Some farmers in eastern Nebraska are planning to buy grain to feed cattle despite the drought, Dr. Peterson said.

The price of feeder cattle has advanced since fat cattle prices went up.

Ike's Farm Vote Loss Called 'Significant'

... But Researchers Say He Still Has Majority

ST. LOUIS (AP) — An agricultural research firm reported Wednesday night a nationwide survey of farm families indicates a majority intend to vote for Eisenhower but that he has suffered a "significant loss" in farm popularity since 1952.

The mid-September survey indicates that 56.6 per cent of the farmers questioned intend to vote for Eisenhower, 34.4 per cent for Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic candidate, and that 9 per cent are undecided or do not intend to vote, the company said.

Doane Agricultural Service Inc.,

which conducted the poll through its countrywide Farm Panel, said Eisenhower will receive 21.2 per cent fewer farm votes than he did four years ago.

"The net decline in Eisenhower's farm popularity came about through defection of 27 per cent of his 1952 supporters which was partially offset by a gain of 5 per cent of voters who backed Stevenson four years ago," said the company, one of the nation's oldest in the field of agricultural research.

True D. Morse resigned as board chairman of the firm in 1952 to become undersecretary of agriculture in the Eisenhower administration.

The company said the 1,708 farm families questioned represent a balanced cross-section of the nation's 2,100,000 full-time farm families having a gross annual farm income of $2,500 or more and including more than four million voters.

Retired Navy Man Indicted For Perjury

NEW YORK (AP) — Rear Adm. C. P. H. Gilliam (Ret), 65, of Long Beach, Calif., was indicted Wednesday by a federal grand jury on two counts of perjury.

The indictment charges that during an investigation conducted here by the Navy into negotiations for the purchase of flavoring extracts and a beverage base the admiral lied when asked about his relations with the firms selling the products.

The investigation, which is still under way, was aimed at determining whether there was a conflict of interest violation or a possible fraud against the government.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Marie McCann said Navy regulations prevent a retired officer from selling or representing anyone in the sale of anything to the Navy through the branch from which he retired.

RUSSIA AGREES TO SEND VIEWERS TO WATCH U.S. CAMPAIGN, ELECTION

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia has accepted an invitation, personally approved by President Eisenhower, to send official observers to "view at first hand" the American political campaign and election.

State Department officials said today the Soviets also agreed to welcome American observers to their next big election, in 1958.

The Soviet government hasn't named the two or three persons it will send here, but they are expected to be medium-rank officials.

The State Department also has proposed an exchange of election observers to four of Russia's European satellites—Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Romania.

RE-ESTABLISHMENT OF HIGH SCHOOL DEBATES URGED

The re-establishment of competitive debate, oratory, and forensics in Nebraska high schools would offer a fertile field for development of Americanism, according to a report prepared for the 57th annual meeting of the State Bar Association meeting in Omaha.

The committee on American Citizenship, compiling the report, said the fundamentals of American democracy contained in the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States have been neglected and misrepresented.

"Information is lacking," the committee noted. "Pride in the fundamental principles of these basic documents has diminished. Sarcasm, by imposing the term 'flag-waving,' has become popular to a degree that outward impressions of loyalty have been subjected to ridicule and sarcasm."

"We feel lack of a woeful lack of real understanding of the basic principles of Democracy and the fundamental differences between that form of government, on the one hand, and Communism on the other."

The committee urged Americanism efforts directed toward Nebraska youth, aliens applying for citizenship, and the general public. The Bar Association should coordinate its youth efforts with the American Legion, sponsor of Boys and Girls State, and Boys and Girls County government programs, the committee said.

In another prepared report, the Bar Association's special committee on expert medical testimony concluded there is no present need for a type of proposed legislation under which district courts would appoint independent medical experts to bring in reports in personal injury suits. Such legislation was introduced in the past Legislature as LB 322 but died in committee.

Oil And Gas
In its first offered report, a committee on oil and gas law said a "substantial number" of problems in the oil and gas industry need study. The committee suggested possible legislative action.

Problems that should be pursued, the committee said, include:

A special mechanic's lien law covering oil field operators to afford protection against "irresponsible operators and promoters."

Statutory enactment definitely determining oil, gas and other minerals in place to be real estate.

Broadening of statutes relative to attachments, executions and lines upon mineral interests.

Procedure providing for ratification of leases by executors, administrators, guardians and trustees.

DC7 Nearly Hits Trainer

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—An Eastern Airlines flight captain said his DC7, with 16 passengers aboard, missed crashing into an Air Force or Navy jet trainer by 50 feet Wednesday.

Capt. R. J. Nemmers reported his pilot pulled the passenger plane up sharply and the jet screamed under the commercial plane. It took place over Dover, Delaware.

The captain's report was confirmed by a passenger, David Tarlow, New York. Nemmers said the jet was a T33 and he believed, but was not certain that it showed Navy markings. Both the Navy and Air Force use T33s for training.

The plane left New York Wednesday morning en route to New Orleans.

Babysitter Saves Tots From Blaze

OMAHA (AP)—Three small children were rescued from a smoke filled bedroom here by neighbors and a baby sitter.

The three children, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Don Benson, are Steven, 7, Wayne, 3, and Richard, 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Benson were at work and 14-year-old Gale Oden was staying with the children. They apparently had been looking for something and left a lamp attached to an extension cord laying on Wayne's bed.

The baby sitter smelled smoke when the bulb set fire to the bedding. She pulled the three-year-old out of the bed and ran to the home of Mrs. Nina Dimon.

Mrs. Dimon's son-in-law, Carl Lenz, who lives with her, his son, Billy, 15, and daughter, Royberta, 14, rescued the other two as firemen arrived.

Benson arrived home just as the firemen were leaving.

120 Are Under Radiation Program At NU

The radiation protection program of the University of Nebraska directly benefits approximately 120 NU staff members, Tom S. Gable, University public health engineer, reported.

Of these, 50 wear some type of monitoring device, such as a ring or badge which is examined every two weeks to determine the amount of radiation the wearer was exposed to.

Gable said that since the year-long program has been in effect

"no serious over-exposures have been reported."

Gable spoke at the concluding session of the two-day Radiological Health Institute at the University.

Other Facets

He said other facets of the program include: centralizing all procurement of isotopes; review of all new installations involving radioactive material, and routine laboratory monitoring service.

He explained: "Since there are health hazards from the use of X-ray machines, radioisotopes and other sources of ionizing radiation, one might well ask why they are used.

"The answer is simple: They are sometimes cheaper, faster, and far more accurate, and often make it possible to do things not possible in any other known way."

Farm Prices Drop 4 Pct.; Still Higher Than Year Ago

Prices received by Nebraska farmers for the items they produce fell off nearly four per cent in the month ending Sept. 15, although still higher than a year ago, the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics reported.

The mid-September index stood at 249 per cent of the 1910-14 average, a decline of 10 points for the month but five points higher than last year.

Stock Prices Down

Prices of all grains fluctuated during the month.

On a bushel basis, wheat advanced five cents, corn dropped two cents, oats advanced one cent and barley, two cents. Grain corn, soybean and dry bean prices declined.

Cattle prices dipped $1.60 per hundredweight during the month, due largely to increased sales of cows and stocker and feeder classes. Hog prices dropped an average of 70 cents per hundredweight, calves increased 40 cents, sheep prices dropped $1.00 and lambs declined 40 cents.

Here are average prices received by farmers at mid-September, with amount of variation from a year ago:

Farm Prices Drop 4 Pct.; Still Higher Than Year Ago

Prices received by Nebraska farmers for the items they produce fell off nearly four per cent in the month ending Sept. 15, although still higher than a year ago, the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics reported.

The mid-September index stood at 249 per cent of the 1910-14 average, a decline of 10 points for the month but five points higher than last year.

Stock Prices Down
Sharp price decreases for cattle, hogs and sheep along with a seasonal decline for potatoes were responsible for the downturn.

Prices of all grains fluctuated during the month.

On a bushel basis, wheat advanced five cents, corn dropped two cents, oats advanced one cent and barley, two cents. Grain sorghum, soybean and dry bean prices declined.

Cattle prices dipped $1.60 per hundredweight during the month, due largely to increased sales of cows and stocker and feeder classes. Hog prices dropped an average of 70 cents per hundredweight, calves increased 40 cents, sheep prices dropped $1.00 and lambs declined 40 cents.

Here are average prices received by farmers at mid-September, with amount of variation from a year ago:

Celler Says Ex-Justice Official Apparently Dealt In Probe-Involved Stocks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Celler (D-NY) said Wednesday a subcommittee recently resigned Justice Department official apparently dealt in "stocks of corporations under investigation or otherwise involved in matters pending before his department."

Celler, chairman of the House

Antitrust subcommittee, put out a statement on a subcommittee investigation of Edward A. Foote, who resigned Sept. 14 as second ranking officer of the department's antitrust division.

The department said Foote resigned for personal reasons and Foote himself said his resignation had nothing to do with any business of the Celler subcommittee.

Celler said the department has been told a subcommittee inquiry showed Foote ordered stock in the Warren Petroleum Co. after public announcement that the Gulf Oil Corp. was to acquire this company, and that he ordered the stocks sold on the day the antitrust division was advised that the Federal Trade Commission would investigate the proposed merger.

Known Contents

Foote declined all comment on the Celler statement, other than to say he knew of its contents.

He has said that "during the time I was with the department I owned no stocks or bonds of any character except one which I now no longer own and which was not associated in any way with anything ever handled by the Justice Department."

The Justice Department declined to comment on Celler's statement, issued by the subcommittee office here in the chairman's absence. A department spokesman also refused to say whether any report on the subcommittee investigation had been received by the department.

Celler said detailed information was furnished to Asst. Atty. Gen. Victor R. Hansen, head of the antitrust division, on Sept. 5.

No Rule

He also said the Justice Department "has no rule or regulation preventing its officials or employees from dealing or speculating in the stock of companies which have matters pending before such officials or employees."

But he said the subcommittee was told that "penal provisions of the conflict of interest statutes are considered adequate to prevent such situations from arising."

Celler said the subcommittee received information early last August that Foote "was using his wife's (brokerage) account to engage in heavy stock speculation in numerous companies, some of which were involved in matters" before the antitrust division.

Celler said an investigation was ordered because "such information, if correct, would indicate a conflict of interest."

Surviving are sisters, Elsie Ratsch, Mrs. Charlie Stern, both of Denton, Mrs. Minnie Fulle of Athol, Kan., and Mrs. Emma Radatz of Sidney, Neb.

Mine Owners Balk On Pact UMW Already Had Ratified

CINCINNATI (AP) — Representatives of coal mine owners Wednesday balked at signing a new wage contract with John L. Lewis.

But Lewis' aides said there was "a reasonable expectation" that an agreement could be reached in the next 48 hours.

Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers Union, had announced earlier to the union convention that an agreement had been reached for a $2.40 a day boost in miners' wages and vacation benefits. The UMW then ratified it.

U.S. Holding New Weapon

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Navy Secretary Thomas said Wednesday the Navy has a new secret weapon he believes will revolutionize anti-submarine warfare.

Thomas made the statement at a news conference during which he discussed the combat potential of the "new" U. S. Navy.

He said the nature of the new weapon could not be revealed at this time, but he declared it would be of tremendous significance in the event of trouble with Russia, since that country's Navy is primarily submarine.

Asked if the United States Navy is ahead of Russia's, he replied: "Yes, definitely. We have the most powerful Navy in the world."

Claims Record

NELIGH, Neb. — The Rattler, Neligh High School paper, started its thirty-fifth year of publication this week and claims to be the smallest school in the state to boast a printed newspaper that length of time.

Base Airman Jailed; Carried Knife, 'Knucks'

A 17-year-old Lincoln Air Force Base airman was jailed on an open charge at Police headquarters Wednesday night after a knife with a four-inch blade and a pair of brass knuckles were found in his possession.

He was picked up with three other airmen, two of whom were engaged in a fight. The other three were turned over to LAFB authorities.

LAD SAYS HE KILLED PLAYMATE

... A Cripple, 8

COLTON, Calif. (INS) — The San Bernardino County sheriff's office said Wednesday that 11-year-old Lester Stewart has confessed the murder of his crippled 8-year-old playmate, George Bryant III.

The body of the youngster, a one-time March of Dimes poster boy, was found face down in a shallow swamp pool in a hobo jungle outside the city limits after an all-night search that began when he failed to return home.

Deputies said the Stewart boy drowned the 8-year-old in a creek and then ran home following an argument while the two were playing hooky from school to go swimming.

They quoted him as saying: "I knocked George down and then held his head under water until he didn't move any longer. Then I ran home and hid."

Cologne

The confession halted an extensive search throughout the area for a possible "cologne" smelling suspect.

The slain boy's shirt was found saturated with cologne. An empty bottle of the perfume lay near his coat.

Five Killed In Alaska Crash

NOME, Alaska (AP) — An Alaska Airlines plane crashed after running into radio aerial wires while flying low during a snow storm and all five persons aboard were killed.

The six-place plane, piloted by veteran Alaska bush pilot John Hutchison, was en route from White Mountain to Council, a 30-mile trip.

Searchers found the wreckage late Wednesday. It had crashed into wires holding aerials of a former Alaska communication system facility.

Soldier Clubbed In White-Negro Hawaii Street Rift

HONOLULU (AP) — Police said Wednesday a white soldier was clubbed at knifepoint and clubbed by a group of Negro GIs at nearby Wahiawa when he went to the aid of a white girl who complained the Negroes were molesting her.

It was the second straight night of trouble involving white and Negro troops of the U. S. 25th Division stationed at Schofield Barracks.

Detective Lt. Herbert Cockett said the trouble started after Dolores Coelho claimed she was seized by one of the Negroes standing outside a tavern.

He said Specialist 2.C. William B. Cooley, 26, 200 Chestnut St., Wake Forest, N. C., went to her aid and that he was struck after some "name calling." Cooley was given emergency treatment. Two of the Negroes were arrested on charges of assault and battery.

On Monday night, Negro and white soldiers engaged in a knife-wielding, bottle-throwing brawl on a main Wahiawa street. A Negro was stabbed and a white soldier suffered a skull fracture.

Armed forces police said the fight was not due to "racial friction" but stemmed from division rivalry between Negro infantrymen and white artillerymen.

Machine Blows Up; Papillion Blacks Out

PAPILLION, Neb. (AP) — A portion of Papillion was plunged into darkness temporarily Wednesday night when a 10-ton ditching machine owned by a construction company blew up.

Sheriff Ernest Arp said the huge machine blew up near a power line, damaging the line. Power service to the portion of the city darkened was soon restored, he added.

The equipment was owned by the Ball Construction Co. of Norfolk, which is digging a sewer line in a subdivision at the east edge of Papillion.

Arp said it appeared that some dynamite had been placed on or near the machine, but added that investigation was continuing.

Fire, Smoke Damage Gabelhouse Kitchen

Fire and smoke did considerable damage Wednesday evening to kitchen cupboards and walls at the Bill Gabelhouse home, 1911 So. 42nd.

The Gabelhouses had no estimate of the damage, but said at least one wall would have to be repainted. Firemen said the blaze started when hot grease from meat cooking on the stove caught fire.

Omaha Fire Minor

OMAHA (AP) — A two-alarm fire caused relatively minor damage at the United Petroleum Corp. Wednesday night. Damage was confined to a wooden booth and equipment in a room where grease drums are painted. The firm compounds lubricants.

Nebraska Labor Unions May Merge At Week-End Meet

OMAHA, Mo.—Delegates from labor unions affiliated with both the American Federation of Labor (AFL) and the Congress of Industrial Organizations (CIO) gather in Hastings this weekend, for meetings that may see completion of the merger of the two groups in Nebraska.

The AFL and CIO groups will hold separate sessions to consider the constitution and by-laws agreed upon by the union committees of both organizations, and should they be approved, the two groups will come together Tuesday in a merged convention.

A preliminary to the conventions will be a meeting of the state councils of various trades now affiliated with the AFL on Sunday. Monday the Nebraska State Federation of Labor—AFL will meet in the city auditorium, and the Nebraska State Industrial Union Council-CIO will meet in the Clarke Hotel Ballroom.

Monday evening delegates to both conventions and their wives and guests will attend a banquet at which Rep. Ed Edmondson (D-Ola) will be the speaker.

Gov. Victor Anderson has been invited to address the joint convention session Tuesday morning, providing the merger approval is obtained.

Also with the same contingency, Peter McGavin, assistant to President George E. Many of the AFL-CIO, will present the charter to the merged labor organization on Tuesday.

Consideration of the merger, which has been approved at the national level and now is being considered in the various states, is expected to be the overshadowing consideration at this convention, which should be the largest gathering of union labor representatives in Nebraska history.

In Omaha Gordon C. Preble, AFL state president, said some opposition to the merger may come from the building trades unions in his organizations.

These unions opposed the merger nationally because of jurisdictional disputes with the CIO. James C. Harris Jr., CIO state president, said he expect no opposition to the merger from his organization.

BURGLARS GET $200,000 IN FUR

BALTIMORE (P)—Burglars tunneled through two walls of a fur store, avoided a burglar alarm at the vault and made off with mink and other furs estimated to be worth more than $200,000 early Wednesday.

Detective Capt. George H. Mintiens called the robbery at Jandel's, a North Charles Street furrier, as "the biggest fur theft case in the city's history."

David Silverman, an owner of the store, said "they were professional burglars. They knew exactly how to go about it and they took all the best furs."

The furs included those owned by the store and many stored for customers.

Police said the burglars broke through a washroom wall between two joists and entered the fur vault from the rear, thus avoiding the burglar alarm.
